29. A malevolent Middle-Earth creature from Tolkien’s Lord of the Rings.
30. Early .com company.
31. “No one comes to the Father except ___ me,” (John 14:6).
32. Postal abbr. for Selma’s State.
33. Choir voice.
34. Pabst Black ___ beer.
35. ____ & Sidon were important coastal cities in both the OT (1 Kgs. 17:9) & NT (Mk. 7:24-31; Lk. 6:17-18).
36. Cell phone use while driving is gaining on ___ as a factor in car accidents.
37. Letters for Tourette Syndrome; a neurological condition.
38. Penney’s father derailed his law school plans and forced him to become a store clerk to support the family, a position which led him to the head of his own company.
39. Adore ___ devote; St. Thomas Aquinas hymn in honor of the Blessed Sacrament.
40. Penney helped found one of the country’s largest retail companies.
41. Ginger ___; crispy cookies.
42. Penney’s father derailed his law school plans and forced him to become a store clerk to support the family, a position which led him to the head of his own company.
43. Penney, in the midst of the depression, tried to help farmers with “model” farms in Mo. and elsewhere. Like similar projects by others, they proved too utopian and futile.
44. Penney, in the midst of the depression, tried to help farmers with “model” farms in Mo. and elsewhere. Like similar projects by others, they proved too utopian and futile.
45. Penney, in the midst of the depression, tried to help farmers with “model” farms in Mo. and elsewhere. Like similar projects by others, they proved too utopian and futile.
46. Penney, in the midst of the depression, tried to help farmers with “model” farms in Mo. and elsewhere. Like similar projects by others, they proved too utopian and futile.
47. Penney, in the midst of the depression, tried to help farmers with “model” farms in Mo. and elsewhere. Like similar projects by others, they proved too utopian and futile.
48. Penney, in the midst of the depression, tried to help farmers with “model” farms in Mo. and elsewhere. Like similar projects by others, they proved too utopian and futile.
49. Penney, in the midst of the depression, tried to help farmers with “model” farms in Mo. and elsewhere. Like similar projects by others, they proved too utopian and futile.
50. Penney, in the midst of the depression, tried to help farmers with “model” farms in Mo. and elsewhere. Like similar projects by others, they proved too utopian and futile.
51. Penney, in the midst of the depression, tried to help farmers with “model” farms in Mo. and elsewhere. Like similar projects by others, they proved too utopian and futile.
52. Penney, in the midst of the depression, tried to help farmers with “model” farms in Mo. and elsewhere. Like similar projects by others, they proved too utopian and futile.
53. Penney, in the midst of the depression, tried to help farmers with “model” farms in Mo. and elsewhere. Like similar projects by others, they proved too utopian and futile.
54. Penney, in the midst of the depression, tried to help farmers with “model” farms in Mo. and elsewhere. Like similar projects by others, they proved too utopian and futile.
55. Penney, in the midst of the depression, tried to help farmers with “model” farms in Mo. and elsewhere. Like similar projects by others, they proved too utopian and futile.
56. Penney, in the midst of the depression, tried to help farmers with “model” farms in Mo. and elsewhere. Like similar projects by others, they proved too utopian and futile.
57. Penney, in the midst of the depression, tried to help farmers with “model” farms in Mo. and elsewhere. Like similar projects by others, they proved too utopian and futile.
58. Penney, in the midst of the depression, tried to help farmers with “model” farms in Mo. and elsewhere. Like similar projects by others, they proved too utopian and futile.
59. Penney, in the midst of the depression, tried to help farmers with “model” farms in Mo. and elsewhere. Like similar projects by others, they proved too utopian and futile.
60. Penney, in the midst of the depression, tried to help farmers with “model” farms in Mo. and elsewhere. Like similar projects by others, they proved too utopian and futile.
61. Penney, in the midst of the depression, tried to help farmers with “model” farms in Mo. and elsewhere. Like similar projects by others, they proved too utopian and futile.
62. Penney, in the midst of the depression, tried to help farmers with “model” farms in Mo. and elsewhere. Like similar projects by others, they proved too utopian and futile.
63. Penney, in the midst of the depression, tried to help farmers with “model” farms in Mo. and elsewhere. Like similar projects by others, they proved too utopian and futile.
64. Penney, in the midst of the depression, tried to help farmers with “model” farms in Mo. and elsewhere. Like similar projects by others, they proved too utopian and futile.
65. Penney, in the midst of the depression, tried to help farmers with “model” farms in Mo. and elsewhere. Like similar projects by others, they proved too utopian and futile.
66. Penney, in the midst of the depression, tried to help farmers with “model” farms in Mo. and elsewhere. Like similar projects by others, they proved too utopian and futile.
67. Penney, in the midst of the depression, tried to help farmers with “model” farms in Mo. and elsewhere. Like similar projects by others, they proved too utopian and futile.
68. Penney, in the midst of the depression, tried to help farmers with “model” farms in Mo. and elsewhere. Like similar projects by others, they proved too utopian and futile.