Matt Swearingin | Durant Democrat

Durant Main Street held its annual trick or treat during the rain on Halloween Wednesday evening. The candy stops were moved inside the businesses due to the rain. Despite the weather, many were turning out for the event.

Woman killed in Calera crash

STAFF REPORT

A woman died and two children were seriously injured when a semi truck hit her vehicle Monday evening on Highway 69/75 in Calera.

Calera Police said 27-year-old Mindi Brock, a Calera resident, died from injuries received in the crash that evening at Main Street and Highway 69/75 when her east-bound car was struck by a south-bound semi truck.

Her two daughters were flown to a Dallas hospital and one of them is in critical condition while the other one, though still hospitalized, is expected to recover, according to police.

Calera Police Chief Don Hyde said one girl has had surgery and the other, who is critical, is in a drug-induced coma. The girls are ages 9 and 10.

"It's just a local tragedy to say the least," Hyde said.

The truck driver, who was not injured, told police the light was green when he was driving through the intersection which police verified in the investigation. Another SUV almost hit the vehicle Brock was driving before the semi struck it, according to Hyde.

A Go Fund me account has been established for the Brock family.

"Mindi was a single mother raising two girls with the help of her mother and sister" The Expenses For the Brock Family Go Fund Me page states. "Madison is currently (in) ICU and Rameigh has a broken leg and has been care flighted

Achille mayor busted for burglary

STAFF REPORT

The mayor of Achille is accused of burglary and drug possession.

Forty-one-year-old David Shane Northcutt was charged Tuesday with felony first-degree burglary and misdemeanor charges of possession of methamphetamine and drug paraphernalia.

He was arrested Monday by Calera Police who responded to a burglary call in the 400 block of Treaty Road.

According to a court document, Northcutt and 19-year-old Joshua David Doughty of Achille entered Terry and Tracy Condors' home through the front door on Monday.

When Calera Police Patrolman Mark McMurry responded

Monday to the call, the suspects had left. Terry Condors, who was armed with a shotgun, was following them, according to the report.

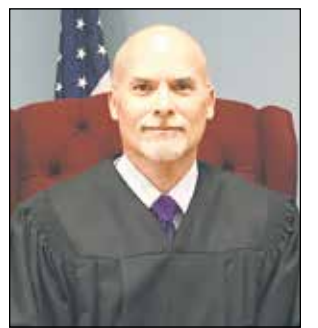

When McMurry arrived, Chief Don Hyde already had both suspects on the ground and they were placed in McMurry's patrol car.

Judge Sherrill to receive award

The Oklahoma Bar Association's Criminal Law Section is pleased to announce that Judge Trace Sherrill of Bryan County has been named as the recipient for the Honorable Donald Deason Judicial Award. This award is given annually to a state or federal judge who is known for character, dedication, and professional excellence.

The nominating petition for Judge Sherrill came from an Oklahoma City attorney who had a client who had the misfortune to find himself arrested on a minor violation on a Friday afternoon with no opportunity to appear in court and faced spending a long weekend in jail. Judge Sherrill, on his own accord, went above and beyond in making the appropriate accommodations for both the District Attorney's Office and the defense attorney, and moved mountains to ensure that a citizen not sit unnecessarily in the county jail over the weekend.

For those who have not been exposed to the criminal justice system, as this particular defendant was, they are sometimes traumatized from the experience of a weekend in jail. Judge Sherrill's efforts were a much-needed reminder to even the most seasoned of attorney that even delayed-freedom

Little people pretending to be big people Imaginations run wild at Robert E. Lee Early Childhood Center

BY MICHAEL CLEMENTS
michael@durantdemocrat.com

They look like they're having fun, but according to Jan Chaffin, principal of the Durant Independent School District's (Durant ISD) Robert E. Lee Early Childhood Center, the four-year-olds running and laughing around the center's new imaginative play area are actually learning.

"They are developing their creativity, they are role-playing, they are engaging in interactive play," Chaffin said. "They are little people pretending to be big people."

Chaffin was hosting a group of adults who gathered to officially open the Indoor Imaginative Play Area at the center on South 9th Avenue. The group was made up of business owners and individuals who sponsored the play area. The converted classroom features a child-sized mock up of a small town complete with a fire station, bunker gear, fire hose and fire truck.

Little imaginations are fed in the Main Street Diner at the Robert E. Lee Early Childhood Center's indoor imaginative play area.

For the pretend firefighter's convenience, there is a burning house right next to the fire station and truck. When the pretend firefighters are done battling the imaginary flames, they can doff their gear and refresh themselves with pretend ice cream at the ice cream truck, relax while fishing in the pretend pond or take in a movie at the mock theater.

The play area also features a grocery store, doctor's office, bank and diner which has a sign assuring the little customers it is open 24 hours. Chaffin said that last bit is definitely pretend. In fact, the children get 30 minutes per day in the play environment. She said the plan is in line with state standards which are designed to prepare the children for kindergarten and life in public school.

"This is part of those standards," she said.

Durant ISD Superintendent Duane Merideth said the facility was financed by more than $200,000 in donations from businesses and individuals. However, he pointed out there is still some left to cover.

"We haven't gotten a sponsor for the fire station," Merideth said.

In addition to the imaginative play area, the center has an indoor play area similar to a gym that features games and equipment designed for preschoolers' size and abilities. And the former elementary school has a traditional outdoor playground which has been renovated to meet the needs of the center's 225 four-year-olds. Merideth said this arrangement ensures the young students get all the physical activity and imaginative play they need.

"Play is very important, so even if it is too cold or too hot they never miss that playtime," Merideth said.

The center opened last year after the district merged all of its Pre-Kindergarten programs. Chaffin said consolidation of the program ensures that all the teachers are working from the same curriculum with the same goal in mind. She is pleased with the results so far and expects that to continue. Amid the cacophony of pretend sirens and calls for assistance coming from the fire station, Chaffin expressed her gratitude to sponsors and her optimism for the program.

"This has been such a successful program. We're having a lot of fun while working very hard," Chaffin said.

should not be overlooked. The overall impression on both the defendant and the community is important to the integrity of the criminal justice system, and Judge Sherrill ensured those ideals were upheld in even a mundane matter.

Judge Trace Sherrill has served as Special District Judge for Bryan County for twenty-four years overseeing cases that range from criminal, civil, mental health to family law cases. Notably, he also serves his country as an Army lawyer (JAG) in the Oklahoma National Guard where he most recently deployed in 2017 to the Ukraine. Judge Sherrill is a past vice-president of the Bryan County Bar Association, served on the Oklahoma Judicial Conference Executive Committee, and served as instructor for the Reserve Police Officer Academy.

The Crisis Control Center and the Bryan County Court Appointed Special Advocate (CASA) program have recognized his service as Special District Judge. Finally, and probably most tellingly, Judge Sherrill and his wife Dena founded an annual run in memory of their son Colton who was only 10 years old when he passed away while at a basketball camp. Colton's Main Street Run donates the proceeds to provide defibrillators for schools and other public organizations, as well community projects in Colton's honor

The nominating petition for the judicial award concluded with that there is "no finer person to oversee a courtroom than Judge Trace Sherrill, and no one more fit to receive the Judge Don Deason Award for Judicial Excellence. Judge Sherrill will be recognized on November the during the OBA's Annual Meeting at the Criminal Law Luncheon at the Hyatt Hotel.

McMurry then talked to Condor who said he heard a noise when he was sleeping and upon exiting the bedroom, he saw two men in his house. The report stated one of the men claimed to know Condor's wife and children. Condor then went to wake up his wife and retrieve a shotgun. He told them to leave the house and after they did, Condor called police.

Condor followed Northcutt and Doughty until police arrived and arrested them, according to the report. Condor said he did not know either man and they did not have permission to be in his house.

Police found a box that was between Northcutt and Doughty when they were on the ground and inside was a substance that tested positive for methamphetamine and several hypodermic syringes, two of which were "loaded," the report stated.

Both were taken to the Bryan County Jail where Northcutt declined to speak to McMurry. However, Doughty agreed to talk.

Doughty, according to the report, said he is currently living with Northcutt and they were going to the casino when Northcutt's Jeep got stuck in a ditch on McKennon Street. Doughty said Northcutt told him he knew the people in the home, so they walked in. Doughty told McMurry he started becoming concerned when Northcutt began "sneaking around" the house.

Doughty said both of them were using methamphetamine and Northcutt was "acting crazy" because he was "so high," the report stated. Doughty is also facing burglary and drug charges.

In 2016, Northcutt was a Democrat candidate for State Representative District 21 and he was defeated by Republican incumbent Dustin Roberts.

In 2017, Northcutt was investigated for firing a gun into the floor during a dispute with his then-boyfriend. No charges were filed in the case.

Northcutt has bonded out of jail and he has a preliminary hearing conference scheduled Dec. 12.

He also is facing a civil suit that alleges he sold someone's personal property. According to a lawsuit filed Tuesday, L.R. Northcutt, a resident of Euless, Texas, is suing Northcutt for selling a storage building and its contents that were in Achille.

A court document states David Northcutt sold the property in recent months without giving notice to L.R. Northcutt. The suit is seeking damages in excess of $10,000 but less than $75,000.

Basketball Calm Before the Storm to be held Monday

The Thumpers have arrived and home openers are in sight. Southeastern's Calm Before the Storm is set for noon-1 p.m. Monday, November 5 and you're invited. The popular event will cover the upcoming basketball season and Storm fans will be served a free lunch.

Women's coach Darin Grover and men's coach Kelly Green will offer previews of their teams. Selected players will also be on hand to answer questions. Attendance is limited to 100 and this is first-come, first-served. To register, contact Blake Allen at ballen@se.edu.

The Storm ladies will host Dallas Christian at 4 p.m. Friday, November 9 and the men will host Arlington Baptist at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday, November 13.

THE SE DEFENSE stepped up, but the offense failed to reach the end zone in a 10-6 loss to Arkansas Tech last Saturday as Southeastern celebrated Senior Day.

The loss dropped the Storm footballers to 5-4 overall with only two games remaining in the Great American Conference regular season, both on the road.

Southeastern will travel to Searcy, Arkansas, on Saturday to take on the Harding University Bisons (with an 's' on the end).

The final road trip is a shorty as the Storm will be in Ada on November 10 to close the regular season against East Central.

Southeastern volleyballers dropped road matches at Southern Nazarene and Northwestern last Thursday and Friday to make it 7-19 overall.

SE will host East Central at 7 p.m. tonight (Thursday) in the final game of match of the regular season.

The honors keep coming for Storm golfer Zach James. After a strong start that saw him win three of five tournaments and finish second in the other two, he carries the nation's lowest adjusted scoring average of 69.03 strokes per round.

The Storm senior has been named No. 1 among all NCAA Division II golfers in the latest Golfstat player rankings.

THE LATEST GAC football standings have been released with Ouachita Baptist the only unbeaten team at 9-0 and alone in the top spot.

Southern Arkansas is second at 8-1 with the lone loss a 21-0 shutout to the Savage Storm. Harding is third at 7-2 with Southeastern and Henderson State knotted at 5-4 for fourth place.

Arkansas-Monticello is 4-5. Arkansas Tech, Northwestern, Oklahoma Baptist and Southwestern are jammed up at 3-6 with East Central and Southern Nazarene tied at 2-7.

This week's schedule has Southeastern at Harding, Arkansas-Monticello at Henderson State, Northwestern at Oklahoma Baptist and East Central at Arkansas Tech in 2 p.m. starts.

Southern Arkansas travels to Ouachita Baptist and Southwestern visits Southern Nazarene for 1 p.m. kickoffs.

Last week's results: Southeastern fell 6-10 to Arkansas Tech in the lowest-scoring game of the weekend.

Lions to play Tulsa Hale for final game of season

BY KEVIN FARR

For the Democrat

Finishing the season on a positive note will be the goal for the Durant Lions this week as they close out the 2018 football campaign on the road against Tulsa Hale.

Kickoff is slated for 7 p.m. at East Side Stadium in Tulsa.

The Rangers notched just their second on-field victory since 2012 in the first week of the season with an 18-12 win over Tulsa Webster but Hale has struggled since. They have allowed at least 41 points in each of the last eight contests while being outscored by an average of 51-4 during that stretch.

Although the Lions have had their difficulties this year, they have had the Rangers number recently by winning eight straight games against the Tulsa squad while scoring over 50 points in all four meetings since 2012.

"Both teams have struggled this season but I feel like we have a really good chance to win this week," head coach Ray Richards said. "They (Hale) have some good players. They may not have a complete team of them but some good individuals. They are capable of making plays on both sides of the ball. They're not bad at all on defense, just have gotten put in bad situations and have given up a lot of points.

Offensively they have some kids that can make plays as well.

"Obviously we would like

It will be the final game for a hard-working group of seniors that includes offensive catalyst Cade Buchanan and defensive stalwart Landon

Tubbs, each of which has been standouts on their respective side of the ball for the past three seasons.

Buchanan has had some rough patches this season while throwing for 925 yards and nine touchdowns, but posted 4,109 career yards and 38 scores as a three-year starting signal-caller.

For three years Tubbs has been the DHS defensive standout with more than 300 career tackles while wearing the red hat. This season he is one of the top tacklers in Class 5A statewide with 113 stops, including 19 for loss and 4.5 quarterback sacks.

SE Rodeo wraps up fall at NWOSU

ALVA – Southeastern wrapped up the fall portion of its schedule at Northwestern Oklahoma State in Alva where the women's team was able to post a second place finish while the men turned in a third place team effort.

Opening up in the women's competition was Kaycee Hollingback in the breakaway roping, who was able to stop the clock with a 2.8 splitting 6th-12th place in the first round of competition. Teammate Shelby Whiting was part of that split after catching her first-round calf in 2.8 as well.

Whiting came back and had some tough luck going down with a no time in the finals, while Hollingback turned in a 2.7 in the short go, splitting 3rd/4th place in the round and ending the weekend with a 4th/5th place split in the aggregate.

Southeastern was strong in the goat tying competition, led by ShiAnn Henderson who was able to secure a 6.2 in the first round of competition earning her a 2nd place finish in the round. Cierra Doyal followed with a 6.5 leading her to a 4th place finish in the first round of competition. Martie Shockley became the third Storm rider to advance to the finals, earning a 9th/10th place finish in the first round of competition.

Shockley started off the final round slipping when she got to the goat which resulted in her receiving a no time, taking her out of the average. Doyal had a small fumble, but was able to turn in a 7.9, which kept her in the average, giving her a 6th place finish on the weekend. Henderson came back and was able to turn in a 6.5 which placed her 1st in the short go round of competition and 12.7 in the aggregate was fast enough for 1st place in the goat tying.

The barrel racing proved to be a challenging pattern, with only one SE barrel racer qualifying to the final round of competition. Cierra Chapman stopped the clock with a 13.40 in the first round to finish seventh in the go-round. She had some tough luck in the finals, gaining a five second penalty, taking her out of the aggregate.

On the men's side, saddle bronc riders George Wright and Dustin Brewster each posted qualified rides in the first round of competition. Brewster came out and was able to mark a score of 57 in the first round, bringing him back in 9th place to the finals. Once there, he had some tough luck, bucking off his horse going down with a no score. Wright made the whistle with a score of 44, and he opted not to take the reride and unfortunately missed his final horse out in the short round to go out of the average.

The team roping competition brought four Storm team ropers back to the final round of competition.

In the first go round Laramie Warren and Jeremy Carney (NWOSU) stopped the clock with a 6.2, earning them a 3rd place finish in the long round. Dalton Titsworth and Kolton White were able to turn in a 5.6 which held the

Unemployed and sluggish

Dear Annie: I have read columns like yours since I was a child in the 1980s and always figured, "Yeah, I have problems, but I can handle them." I guess not.

ASK ANNIE
Advice

I am in my mid-40s and have two kids and a husband who keeps a roof over my head. I am unemployed, recently losing my job with family because the business closed. I have a head injury from being hit by a car when I was 16, and since losing the family job, I have been finding it difficult to find another, not able enough for work outside of a family business yet not disabled enough for government help. I have been rejected two times.

That's the backstory. My problem is that though I have been taking my antidepressants (so that's not it), I cannot seem to get motivated to do anything anymore. I go to have coffee with my friends each weekday. And then I come home and don't want to do anything. My husband says, "Why didn't you (whatever); you were home all day." I don't know why. Am I just lazy?

— Sitting Around:
Dear Sitting Around: First off, taking antidepressants doesn't mean depression is no longer a problem for you. Let your doctor know what you're experiencing to see whether he or she needs to adjust your treatment. Also, medication is most effective when supplemented with therapy, so consider asking your doctor to refer you to a therapist.

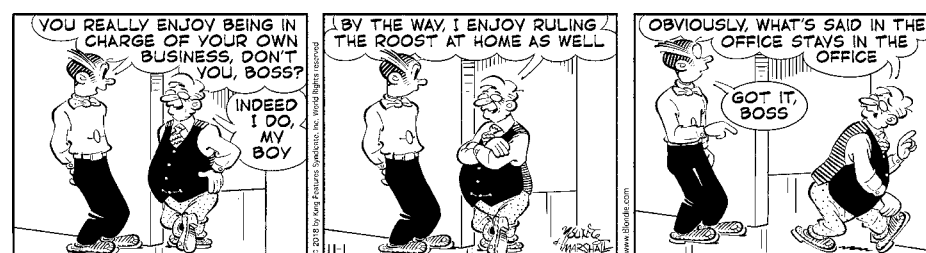

Know that what you're going through is perfectly normal. No matter the reasons for a job loss, adjusting to unemployment is rarely easy, especially for someone who has been working for years. It's natural to feel a combination of restlessness and sluggishness. You are not lazy; you are bored and could possibly use some more structure to your days.

So look for other sources of stimulation and routine, such as social clubs, hobby-oriented groups and volunteer opportunities. Don't be afraid to try activities that are a little outside your comfort zone. That's where great things happen. Most importantly, stay in touch with yourself, your family and your doctors about how you're feeling. In time, you'll get back your get-up-and-go.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
 ★★★★★ You could be in a situation where you must deal with several difficult people, and might feel as if you have no other option. Someone close to you has

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
 ★★★★★ You might have your hands full dealing with a loved one over an issue that involves both of you. Try not to get triggered. If you do, recognize what in you gets charged that way and why. Tonight: Out on the town.
LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
 ★★★★★ You might hit a disagreement and find that you are a lot angrier than you had thought. Try to tame your tone and your words, because the other party has similar feelings. Later in the day, you are more likely to have a reasonable conversation to resolve a problem. Tonight: Say "yes."

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
 ★★★★★ Your nerves could be fried from having too much to do. More and more to-dos are dumped on your plate. Be willing to say "no" to the next few requests. . Tonight: Listen to a loved one's request, and opt for closeness.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec.

21)
 ★★★★★ You could feel unusually drained and exhausted because of a recent heavy conversation that started out as an argument. You certainly will have a lot to think about over the next few days. You see yourself and someone else quite differently as a result. Tonight: Do your thing.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)
 ★★★★★ You need to take charge of your mood. The tension between you and a close friend could be very strong, if you are not careful. Try to detach and not get triggered. You will find the other lead until Jake Clay (NEO) and Levi Pettigrew on Saturday morning were able to secure the top spot with a 5.2.

SE went into the finals with ropers in 1st, 2nd, and 3rd place positions. Warren and Carney were able to come out and turn in a 5.7 in the finals placing them in 1st place in the short go round and an 11.9 in the aggregate giving them a 2nd place finish for the weekend.

Titsworth and White had some tough luck and went out with a no time in the final round of competition but because of the lack of catches in the finals they were able to secure a 6th place average finish on one head of competition. Clay and Pettigrew were able to come back and hold onto first place by turning in a 6.5 placing 2nd in the short round and 1st in the aggregate.

Regionally at the midway point of the season, Southeastern holds down the number two spot in both the men's and women's team competitions.

On the men's side, Titsworth and White hold down the top spot in the region in the team roping, while Warren and Carney are in second place with Clay and Pettigrew in fourth.

Will Martin is currently holding down second place in the region in the bareback riding, while Brewster, Hayden Harris, and Blaine Buchanan are all ranked in the top 10 in their events.

Peyton Glenn continues to lead the barrel racing competition in the region, while Chapman is tied for fourth.

ShiAnn Henderson is sitting third in the goat tying, while Lainey Cooper is fifth and Doyal is ninth.

Kenzie Castor is the highest ranked break-away roper at tied for 11th in the region.

He has also caused three fumbles and recovered three others.

"It's been a hard year, but we need to go out and get a win and send those seniors out with a good taste in their mouth,"

Richards stated. "We need to build a positive toward next year as well. We've played a lot of sophomores and juniors this season and there should be some payoff in that in the future. Anytime you can get game time experience it's a positive."

In the home finale last week the Lions put together a solid defensive effort, but a couple of early big running plays proved costly.

Outside of the rushing of Edison superstar Sevion Morrison the Durant defense only allowed 78 yards to the Eagles in the 27-14 defeat.

"We really did some good things defensively last week but a couple of big runs really hurt us," added Richards. "Every time Morrison touches the ball it's scary because he doesn't need much room. He is a great player. If we don't give them those big plays maybe it's a different story."
