Replaced culvert leads to questions

Commissioners expect no issues with larger pipe, but will check with engineer

BY AMY HALVERSON
Kingsbury Journal

Kingsbury County Commissioners met Thurs., Sept. 22, 2022, at 8:30 a.m. in the Kingsbury County Courthouse to discuss several items including culverts with Farrel Jacobsen during public comment, the 5-year highway plan, Ordinance 64, road levy resolution, planning and zoning, hiring a human resources agent and the need for 911 signs.

CULVERT SIZE

During public comment Farrel Jacobsen addressed the commissioners regarding a culvert recently replaced. He said the county just put in a larger culvert, and he thinks it should have been replaced with a culvert of the same size and at the same depth.

Doug Kazamerzak said the culvert was plugged and had disintegrated, and it had to be replaced. It went from 30 to 36, but it was buried at the same depth. Kazmerzak said he doesn't see that it's going to be an issue, but they can watch it and see what happens.

Jacobsen didn't disagree that it needed to be replaced, but he said it should have been replaced with the same size culvert. Jacobsen said there are rules on replacing culverts. When he wanted to replace his, he was told he could not change the size.

Local churches host youth groups

De Smet and Lake Preston churches welcome new kids and new helpers

BY DAVE FIELDS
Kingsbury Journal

Churches in De Smet and Lake Preston have ushered in the new school year by hosting youth groups for students of all ages. The United Methodist Church in De Smet recently began hosting two groups for younger and older youth. In Lake Preston, two churches have teamed up to host a group for high schoolers.

All of the groups are free to attend, and group leaders are always looking for others willing to help out.

DE SMET

The United Methodist Church (UMC)

in De Smet hosts two separate youth groups; one for younger children and one for older students. Illuminate, for grades 1-8, meets on Wednesdays right after school from 3:30-5:15 p.m. United Youth Group is for grades 7-12 and meets monthly on a chosen Sunday, depending on the activities they are able to schedule.

At Illuminate, elementary-aged children are entertained with music, games, a snack, worship and a lesson based on a curriculum called "The Best Year Ever!" This six-week lesson plan shows one doesn't have to wait until the New Year to start fresh.

Next, the children will move on to lessons based on the month. The theme for November will be gratitude. Children can join anytime, and all are welcome to attend.

United Youth Group meets on different Sundays from month to month; the best way to keep track of the schedule is to follow their Facebook page under the name "United Youth-Group."

On Sun., Oct. 16, the group will be heading to Huron for a Youth Night at James Valley Christian School (JVCS), where they will be listening to inspiring speaker Dustin Galyon, participating in worship led by the JVCS student praise team and enjoying food and games.

Both groups invite anyone who wishes to help out to contact the leaders of the groups directly.

To assist with Illuminate, text Denae Tordoff at (605) 350-3280. For United Youth Group, call or text Tia Felberg at (605) 881-4774.

LAKE PRESTON

The Lake Preston Youth Group meets every Wednesday at 6 p.m., when they go over lesson plans based on Scripture, such as Jonah and Exodus. Their meeting place switches monthly between the United Methodist Church/United Church of Christ (UMC/UCC) and the Lake Preston Lutheran Church. This group is open to youth in grades 8-12; some students who attend do not belong to any church at all.

The group does some activities to support the local community, such as painting the planters between the café and bank in town. They are also planning a trip to the United Gospel Mission in Sioux Falls, which helps people acquire skills to help in life and with employment.

To help offset costs for items like food for the students, the group welcomes donations. Some people volunteer to cook for the group members. The group sometimes holds fundraisers, one of which was a freewill donation ice cream stand at Family Fun Night this summer at the park, where they raised $800.

The youth group is planning more mission work in the future, but, needs to work on organizing and welcomes help.

Anyone willing to assist can text Moses Bolin at (605) 203-3012.

The UMC/UCC also hosts a separate group called “Kids for Christ” for students in grades K-6. This group will begin meeting in mid-October, getting together every Wednesday after school for Bible-based studies, snacks, and games. They also try to focus on community-service activities, including visits to residents of Silver Plains Assisted Living Center and shut-ins.

Anyone willing to volunteer with this group can text Darlene DeKnicker at (605) 860-8684.

COMMISSION: Additional 911 signs needed for responders

Kazmerzak said if there is a problem caused by the culvert, they will fix it. He doesn't see any reason to go out and dig the new one up and replace it with the same size, when there is no issue with it.

"What's right is right," said Jacobsen. "Every culvert along that road is the same size."

David Sorenson said it's an overflow culvert that was replaced, because there is a slough to the south. He said the culverts are not all the same size along that road, and as of right now, it's not a problem.

Jacobsen said that the culverts are all put in at a certain size for a reason. "We understand your concern, but I think we did the right thing. We went from 30 to 36 to avoid it plugging up again," said Kazmerzak.

"Six inches is a lot of water," said Jacobsen. "I want it replaced with the same size as it was. There is a reason it was 30 inches all along."

The commissioners told Jacobsen they weren't going to sweep the issue under the rug, and that they would keep an eye on it. If there is an issue, it will be fixed.

Later, the commissioners and Sorenson agreed to contact an engineer to look at the culvert to see if there is any issue with the new, larger culvert that was replaced.

5-YEAR HIGHWAY PLAN

Sorenson showed the commissioners his 5-year highway plan, pointing out a map in the plan that shows what work he would like to complete.

The plan also shows everything the highway department did during 2022. It includes maps and lists identifying the inventory of highways, bridges, project needs and revenue sources.

The commissioners adopted the 5-year plan.

If the public wants to see the plan, it can be viewed in the auditor's office.

CANNABIS ORDINANCE

Ordinance 64 was read by Echo Steffensen for a second time. The ordinance states that cannabis dispensaries and cannabis cultivation facilities require separation distances. Cannabis cultivation facilities shall only be located within one mile of South Dakota Highways 14 and 25 and U.S. Highway 81. It further states that no cannabis cultivation facilities shall be within one mile of the communities of Arlington, De Smet, Iroquois or Lake Preston.

There was a motion to adopt the ordinance, which was approved by all after a roll call vote. The motion passed.

ROAD LEVY RESOLUTION

Steffensen presented the commissioners with numbers showing how the proposed road levy would affect the public.

It is dictated that the county keeps 75 percent and the cities get 25 percent of the road levy. The current opt-out goes only to the county. The opt-out is going to expire at the end of 2023, and the new levy would be in effect at the beginning of 2024.

The commissioners decided to table the resolution at this time. They would like to publish a notice that explains how the new levy would work and how it would affect Kingsbury residents before they move forward.

PLANNING AND ZONING

Joe Jensen addressed the board regarding two plats that were requested: the Steffensen plat and the Hojer Family Ranch plat. After providing the commissioners with details about both, the commissioners agreed to approve both plats.

Jensen informed the commissioners that there will be several things coming up soon in planning and zoning. He has received several calls from people regarding man camps and land that needs to be split.

Jensen also informed the commissioners that Gevo will be getting an excavation permit to start preparing the land where they plan to build.

HUMAN RESOURCES

Steffensen sent a form to all department heads to list requests in regard to human resources (HR). She shared their responses to the commissioners, along with what Codington County put out for an advertisement when they were looking for HR services.

Steffensen said they really need to update the employee handbook, making sure it follows federal employment laws. She would much rather have someone else who has more experience take care of this, rather than having to research items herself as they come up. The employees and commissioners had a list of several items they would like help with when it comes to HR.

Kazmerzak thought they should go with Natalie Remund with Multi Business Solutions. Remund, who already works with Codington and Deuel Counties, had spoken with them and seemed very well versed in what they need.

Kazmerzak said Remund would be around more at first to get to know everyone and see how things work. After that, it would be less. Kazmerzak said he would like her to come during commissioner meetings, but Steffensen reminded him that she already goes to Watertown on Tuesdays. Steffensen suggested they move the last meeting of the month to Thursdays, so she could attend.

The commissioners discussed whether to hire an HR person or just use a consultant. At this time the commissioners do not feel like they need someone to come in full-time.

Since there is no HR budget for this year, the commissioners decided they have time to find someone. They all agreed to place an advertisement to see if anyone else could provide the HR services they are seeking.

911 SIGNS

Cindy Bau discussed 911 signs that she felt were needed in the county. She explained that when the new addressing came around in the new development outside of De Smet, there were only two signs put up on the streets.

Bau explained that there are several different roads in one area with several homes having the same house number near each other but on different unmarked roads. She said there are five intersections there that need signs. Caroline Circle and Tower Road were given as examples where signs are needed.

Bau said she needs to check with DOT to see about the size of the signs, but she feels the signs are needed to help first responders find homes. She explained that if someone out there needs an ambulance, it will be hard for first responders to find a specific house the way it is now.

The commissioners asked if 911 funds could be used to pay for the signs. Bau said they cannot use 911 funds for the signs, since the signs will be used by more than first responders.

Bau said putting signs on the corners would cost around $375. She believes they already have the posts for the signs. If the DOT says they have to do some 12" signs, it will be $159.80.

A motion was made to get the signs ordered; all commissioners agreed to approve the purchase.

OTHER

- Retention bonus: The commissioners discussed whether to give out a retention bonus again to employees for the quarter. They all agreed to approve the retention bonus to be paid.
- Resolution to support First District: The commissioners made a motion to sign the contract with First District. The motion was approved.
- Budget approval – sign resolution: The commissioners approved the budget for 2023 and made a motion for Kazmerzak to sign the resolution.

Our rural way of life

WHEN I FIRST RAN for Governor, South Dakota needed new opportunities. For years, our economic growth had not kept up with the nation. Young South Dakotans were too often leaving our state to pursue college or a career. Cities like Sioux Falls were growing, but our rural communities were slowly falling behind.

I grew up in rural South Dakota – I love what our rural communities stand for. I knew that we could turn that trend around, and that’s exactly what we’ve done in the last four years.

Because of the example of Freedom that South Dakota set during the pandemic, millions of Americans visited our state. Thousands chose to make South Dakota their home. But they didn’t only move to Sioux Falls or Rapid City. We have folks moving to small towns, too – even some of our smallest towns!

This was possible because we prioritized strengthening our small towns. Folks shouldn’t have to choose between the career of their dreams and our rural way of life, and now they don’t have to. We’ve made several key investments in our rural communities that have made this possible.

When I was first elected, I pledged to connect every corner of South Dakota to high-speed broadband, but it looked like this would take 10 years to accomplish. Because of South Dakota’s tremendous tax revenues, we managed to fully fund our broadband program in just a couple years. We have connected thousands of South Dakotans to high-speed internet. Families in small towns now can get Wi-Fi access right at home. Farmers can get internet to monitor various aspects of their operations.

Rural healthcare is an issue that has also fallen behind over the years, but we addressed that challenge, too. I proposed and signed legislation to extend telehealth flexibilities to South Dakotans. Now, you can talk to your doctor over the internet from wherever you are, making it so much easier to get the healthcare that you need, even from a rural community.

We also improved training and purchased new equipment for our emergency first responders and are investing in regional emergency response services. This will have a particularly strong impact on our rural communities. We want to be sure that every South Dakotan can be taken care of in an emergency, no matter where you live.

Our entire state’s economy depends on agriculture, and this is doubly true in our small towns. Lieutenant Governor Larry Rhoden and I made our living farming and ranching, so we understand the challenges that our farmers face. I worked to secure favorable trade deals that give our producers new markets to sell their goods. We provided grants to 99 small meat processors across the state to increase competition, which will benefit our ranchers. And we’re investing in opportunities to innovate our agriculture industry and keep it strong for the next generation.

Our rural communities are thriving in South Dakota. For the first time in a long time, our young folks are choosing to stay here. People are moving to our small towns to share our way of life. And we are making investments to build on this momentum and keep rural South Dakota strong for the future.

Elaine Dorothy Fox

Elaine Dorothy Fox, 80, of Columbia, S.C., left her earthly body to be with our Lord on Sept. 13, 2022.

Elaine was born Dec. 8, 1941, in Huron, S.D., to parents James and Nora Bishop. She spent her early years living and working on the family farm. After graduating from high school, Elaine married and moved to Minnesota to begin her career and start a family. Elaine discovered her passion for the legal field, and armed with an unstoppable work ethic, experience and dedication to supporting her family, continued to serve within the judicial system for over 40 years.

In the late 80s, Elaine and her husband Chris moved to southern California where she flourished as a member of Saddleback Church. Her "service to others" character was felt by everyone who came in contact with her. Simply stated, Elaine was a beautiful person filled with love — love for her family, love for California, love for laughter, love for life in general, and ultimately, love for our Lord.

Elaine is survived by her husband, Chris; her three sons, Will Sprang (Santee), Walter Sprang (Connie) and James Sprang (Lanae); her siblings, Noel "Sonny" (Kit) Bishop and Gloria "Deedee" Kruger and ten grandchildren.

Condolences can be sent to Chris Fox at 2038 Lake Murray Blvd Apt: 2027 Columbia, SC 29212.

Home alone two

“MMMM. GOOD JOB, DeAnn!” Delmer mopped up the last of the egg yolk on his plate with a chunk of toast. When the folks were gone, I was designated cook. The menu was nearly always the same: fried eggs, toast and pork and beans. My brother was picky about his eggs; the yolk had to be runny, so when you mashed it with a fork, it mixed with the solid white. The cook was not to break the yolk as she dropped it into the frypan.

Delmer was a pretty good big brother (most of the time), and for some reason, I always wanted to do my best when he was around. I was really proud that night when I did not break a single yolk!

We finished up the can of beans, and I carried the dishes to the sink. “Gunsmoke” came on in twenty minutes. When Dad was home, he chose the entertainment that flashed on the black and white screen. “Kids don’t need to see all that violence!” Sometimes, we had to turn the station knob on the TV when theme music played from a particular show, but tonight, we could watch whatever we wanted.

I ran hot water and squirted in some Joy dish soap. Delmer brought his dishes. “Hey, DeAnn, come with me to the hog house.” I knew he was supposed to check on the new sow.

“You just go quick and then we can watch “Gunsmoke,” I rinsed a glass and put it in the drainer.

BACK TO FORWARD

DEANN (WOLKOW) KRUEMPEL

“We’ll do dishes later. Come on!” I hated going outside in the dark. My imagination ran wild. What creatures lurked behind every tree, just waiting to pounce? Normally, my big, tough brother would have grabbed the flashlight and run to the hog house without a second thought, but last week something happened that made his imagination run wild, too.

For good reason, some critters were not welcome on our South Dakota farm. Rats, skunks and weasels posed a threat to egg production, among other things. Delmer enjoyed the task of managing the predator population, so one Sunday evening when he discovered a mound of loose dirt by a hole near the Quonset, he carefully set a trap.

The next day after the bus had hauled us off to school, Dad walked by the Quonset and smelled a foul odor. It didn’t take long to discover something in Delmer’s trap. It was a civet cat. We always linked skunks and civet cats together; they smelled bad and might carry rabies. Things were safer without them. Normally, Dad would have put the thing out of its misery and buried the carcass, but this time he had an idea ...

The old granary next to the hog house held a week’s supply of ground feed for the chickens and hogs. Lately, the farmer had noticed mice and rats scurrying away when he opened the door. Could the presence, or even the odor, of this critter drive away the rodents? It was worth a try. He carried the trapped animal to the hog house and attached the chain to the wall next to the door.

That night Delmer went about chores as usual, unaware of Dad’s rodent patrol scheme. He slid open the granary door. A warning hiss sounded just inches from his boots! He slammed the door shut and ran for the rifle. (An underwear check was not necessary, but it was close.)

A week later that hiss and those murderous eyes still flashed in my brother’s mind as we marched together to the hog house. The dishes waited.

The sow was fine, and it wasn’t long until we scooted into the living room and settled in for an enjoyable night full of shooting and killing.

In the first program, Matt Dillon and Festus met a frantic rider as his horse galloped into Dodge City. “Marshal, you gotta come quick! There’s a mountain lion on the loose. It got three of my calves, and today, it went after one of my men!”

My imagination ran wild. I thought of walking outside in the dark. I turned to my brother who sat regally in Dad’s recliner. “Delmer, do we have mountain lions around here?”

He looked at me and nodded his head serenely. “They spotted one just east of Watertown a couple weeks ago. I read somewhere their favorite food is little girls.”

My eyes grew wide, and my heart pounded. All of a sudden, my good-most-of-the-time big brother broke out laughing. He slapped his knee. “Just foolin’ with ya!”

Back to the screen in front us, Festus was about to ask the marshal if he needed help. I narrowed one eye just like Festus and glared up at my brother. “Delmer, next time, you can fry your own eggs!”

Write it on your heart

ON THE CLEANING CART that I push from room to room where I am blessed to serve as a housekeeper at the Good Samaritan Society, I have these words by Ralph Waldo Emerson prominently displayed.

“Write it on your heart,” he wrote, “that every day is the best day in the year. He is rich who owns the day ...”

I put them on my cart as they are a gentle, yet powerful, reminder, first, of the blessing that is every individual day, second, that to just remember is not enough...it must be deeply known (written on the heart) and third, they remind me how incredibly rich we are.

In the sixth chapter of his First Letter to Timothy, the Apostle Paul seeks that Timothy, and all of us, remember where our wealth lies. The aging Paul, who has traveled innumerable hard miles, been bruised, beaten and imprisoned, and has almost no worldly possessions to call his own, writes to the younger Timothy, who will now shepherd the churches in and around Ephesus, to give him strength and encouragement to “fight the good fight of faith.”

For Timothy, part of that “fight” would include contending with various factions that were leading people away from faith, some of which apparently promised worldly wealth and gain in return for Godliness. Now these teachers were completely right in their insistence that great wealth and gain will come to those who walk with the Lord, but they were completely wrong about what constitutes wealth and gain.

Worldly gains are ubiquitous ...

MEDITATIONS

always before us. They are concrete and instantly gratifying. But love for such riches, writes Paul, also causes “temptations, snares, and senseless and harmful desires and cravings.” It is “a root of all kinds of evils,” and by it, we “pierce ourselves with many pangs.”

Paul exhorts us instead, as children of God, to “flee these things (love of wealth and gain) and pursue righteousness, godliness, faith, love, steadfastness, gentleness, to cling to “the King of kings and Lord of lords, who alone has immortality, who dwells in unapproachable light, and to take hold of the eternal life to which we were called.” It is wealth unimaginable and eternal.”

We take hold of and cling to this wealth and gain by “fighting the good fight of faith”, pursuing, day after day, godliness, steadfastness, gentleness and love and by using the blessings of this world for the glory of God to “take hold of that life which is truly life.” Fighting the good fight is to take up daily residence in the eternal life that is ours with the God who dwells in unapproachable light.

It is in daily fighting the good fight of faith that we make every day the best day in the year ... It is in the daily pursuit of righteousness and love that we own the day and all our days ... and it’s how we get rich.

Write it on your heart.

Perhaps you sent a lovely card, or sat quietly on a chair.
Perhaps you sent a funeral spray,
if so we saw it there.
Perhaps you spoke the kindest words,

Perhaps you were not there at all,
just thought of us that day.
Whatever you did to console our hearts,
we thank you

FUNERAL CHAPEL & CREMATION SERVICES

Thanking God for being ‘just a cowboy’

I HAVE BEEN BLESSED with many friends in my life. From rodeo, radio, travelin', even the Legislature, but cowboy poetry has contributed many friends to that list. I believe it was Yvonne Hollenbeck who first introduced me to Andy Nelson. He's a good friend, a great writer, poet and voice. He's received many acclaims through the years, but I believe in the end he'd be proudest of this:

JUST A COWBOY - BY ANDY NELSON
If I were king of many lands, You'd see me with different eyes;
You'd kneel and kiss my ring, Wanting what my money buys.

But I am just a cowboy, I've always remained the same;
The most treasured thing I own, Is this title and my name.

THE GOOD STUFF

JIM THOMPSON

If I were a slick politician, You would flock to my side;
You'd take my opinion as law, Even if I cheated and I lied.

But I am just a cowboy, I speak plain and simple truth;

I respect those around me, And have, ever since my youth.

If I were a big movie star, Your kids would idolize me;
Even if unfaithful to my wife, Stealing virtue that wasn't free.

But I am just a cowboy, This family I have is my life;
To me, nothing is more precious, Than my children and my wife.

If I were a pro athlete, You'd admire my strength and skill;
My salary would buy my freedom, If I choose to cheat or kill.

But I am just a cowboy, I work hard for chicken feed;
I'll never be rich or wealthy, But have everything I need.

If I were a trust fund child, You'd envy the life I'm livin';
I buy relationships and friends, Ungrateful for all I am given.

But I am just a cowboy, With feet planted on this sod;
Thankful for all of my blessings, And know they come from God.

My word is a binding contract, Hard work is the trail I choose;
I live for life's simple pleasures, And don't care if I win or lose.

This life I've chosen to follow, Brings me satisfaction and joy;
And I thank the good Lord daily, To have been born "Just a cowboy!"

Ready for fall with cheesy beef goulash

THE TEMPERATURES ARE quickly changing, and although I love fall, I'm hoping the temperatures can hold out and don't drop too low anytime soon.

I have to say that fall is definitely my favorite time of year. I love the warm temperatures during the day and the cooler nights. It's perfect for doing outside work, and I always sleep better when I can have the windows cracked and enjoy a nice cool breeze.

I think any day that's around 72 degrees is perfect. If it gets chilly at night, I'm fine with sitting under a blanket or lighting up a bonfire to stay warm.

I'm just not ready for freezing temperatures. I still have a lot of tomatoes and peppers in my garden, and I'm hoping the temperatures can stay warm enough to get as much as I can out of my garden.

Then, I can keep the house warm

HOME GROWN

with all the canning I'll be doing and baking I've been putting off until the air conditioner is shut off for the year.

It seems like the perfect fall weather gets shorter and shorter every year. It goes from hot to cold with only a few weeks of nice weather in between. I'm hoping this year will be different, and we'll all have more time to enjoy the outdoors before the temperatures drop down so low that no one wants to go anywhere.

Add macaroni to skillet, stir well. Cover and simmer about 30 minutes. Turn off heat, remove bay leaves and add the cheddar cheese right before serving.

This week I'm sharing one of my favorite fall recipes for goulash! It's such an easy meal to make when it's chilly out, and I love adding some cheese to my goulash. Enjoy!

Opportunity4All

Cloverleaf 4-H club kicked off their year last week. The members discussed different ideas for activities and events and how to encourage members to attend. No-sew fabric pumpkins were crafted. The next meeting will be Oct. 3 during 4-H week. Club members should meet at 5:30 p.m. at the 4-H building and bring an item that was shown at achievement days/state fair. These will be used to decorate a business window to showcase 4-H. There will be a club pizza party following. Opportunity4All is the 2022 motto.

New director excited to be in De Smet

BY JAMES JESSER
Kingsbury Journal

“I like De Smet,” states Josiah Wright, the new director at the Laura Ingalls Wilder Memorial Society. “It is a quiet, small town. The people here are super nice and so helpful.”

Josiah Wright

Wright, a recent graduate of the University of Oklahoma with a Master of Arts in Museum Studies, moved to De Smet from his hometown of Wichita, Kans. In Kansas City, he earned his Bachelor of Science in history and Bible at Calvary University.

“We can learn from history, through preservation activities of historical locations, buildings, artifacts, etc., as we show ourselves willing to learn and teach the lessons of the past, working for a better present and future,” said Wright.

Wright states, “I am a history buff.” He was looking for a position in his field of study when he found the LIWMS ad online and knew he would be a good fit. He is really enjoying what he does at the Society. The job involves many different aspects including giving tours, ordering supplies, advertising, social media, managing staff and being responsible to the board of directors. He is being trained in different areas, and so far, Wright is enjoying the job.

Wright grew up in Wichita, Kans., and is the oldest of four. His father works in education, and in the past has included Wilder in his classroom. In the fourth grade, Wright was assigned a book report. He chose Farmer Boy and has been a fan of the series ever since. This still remains his favorite.

FFA competes in local landjudging

BY: JOURNALISM STAFF

Local FFA students competed in a landjudging event in Kingsbury County last week. Gannon Gruenhagen had a score of 377 out of 378 possible points. Kasen Janssen scored 364, Breyten

Johnson had 361, and Jada Burke scored 339 for the De Smet team. Advisor Dave Vanderwal noted that competitors determined soil textures, judged the slope of each site, determined the amount of soil erosion with a given original topsoil thickness, determined depth favorable to plant roots for the site, and looked for rocks on the soil surface. Next, they figure dthe limiting factors and class of land as well as vegetative and mechanical treatments to improve the land. The other half of the competition was determining the limitations for homesite and figuring out if the site would be right for building a house. The next event will be held in Webster on Wednesday, September 28.

The Volleyball team also competed last Thursday. The Sharks faced the Highmore-Harrold Pirates and took the game 3 sets to zero.

There is lots of volleyball this week with a game on Thursday, the 29th, against DRSM in Iroquois, and the 281 conference tourney on Saturday.

This Thursday will also include Senior night for any Senior Volleyball and Cross Country Senior athletes. Come support your Senior Sharks!

Above, the Iroquois-Lake Preston Shark Competitive Cheer team competed in Sioux Valley last Thursday, September 22nd.

Housing going up to meet demand

BY CORRIE WALTER
Kingsbury Journal

Over the past several decades, the southeast part of town has been home to the Lake Preston Hospital, a manor, a clinic and even a daycare. Over time, things have changed; buildings have deteriorated and been demolished.

The Lake Preston Development Board has been working hard to find a new purpose for that area, and with Gevo coming, housing has become a major need in the community.

“This has been a long road, and we are excited to finally have a plan for this location,” said Luke Smith, member of the Lake Preston Development Board. “This is an exciting time for the community and hopefully will attract new families to the area.”

The area where the manor, the clinic and the parking lots once sat is going to be transformed into a new housing development. Many changes have already taken place. North of where the old clinic used to sit, a new apartment building has been built with eight apartments for rent. There are six two-bedroom apartments in the middle section of the building, and on either end of the building, there are three-bedroom apartments.

Houses are being built in the area to the south of where the manor once sat. That area has been divided into four separate lots for individual family homes.

A temporary road has been built to get to these houses for this winter, with a new, permanent road scheduled to be built in the spring.

There will be another eight additional lots for sale where the manor used to sit. The Lake Preston Development Board and an investor partnered and purchased the land to be sold for housing. Four lots will be on the north and four lots on the south, with no alley in between the lots.

If interested in purchasing any of these lots, contact a Lake Preston Development Board Member.

1972: The marching band’s first public appearance

10 YEARS AGO

Dana Felderman, the new head football coach at LPHS, was featured in the Blue & Gold this week. He currently attends DSU, where his major areas of study are physical education, health and computers. In the spring he plans to do his student teaching in Lake Preston.

Some of Felderman’s accomplishments are getting many football and basketball awards in Doland, where he attended high school. He is proud that he played college football all four years at DSU and was chosen captain. His favorite quote from Muhammad Ali is “Champions are made from something they have deep inside them. A desire, a dream, a passion.” His advice to students is “enjoy every day, every practice ... before you know it, these days are gone.”

We know he will help his athletes and students achieve the goal of becoming better than they were yesterday.

25 YEARS AGO

John Blachford and Jennifer Nelson were crowned LPHS homecoming king and queen last week. Blachford is the son of Ron and Elaine Blachford and Nelson is the daughter of Dan and Pat Nelson. Other candidates were seniors Mike Malone, Brad Olson, Tim Steffensen, Robin Nelson, Anna Raber and Trudy Wastweet.

FIFTY YEARS AGO: Debi Holland and Klark Thomsen were crowned homecoming queen and king.

An open house in honor of Marie Larson will be held on Oct. 5 at the UCC to celebrate her 100th birthday.

Annie McGuire, daughter of Rick and Liz McGuire, is the focus of the first ‘97-’98 Blue & Gold senior feature. Annie is the positive force behind many good things that happen at LPHS. She has been a member of band, track, golf, FHA, volleyball and yearbook staff.

Her proudest accomplishment is being one of the first girls from Lake Preston to attend Youth Business Academy.

“Only 30 juniors from South Dakota were selected. I feel lucky to have been chosen because I had a great week. It was a wonderful experience I will never forget.”

This year’s parade marked the first public appearance of the LPHS marching band led by instrumental music director Gene Holter. Several floats were displayed in the parade, with the gusty winds doing their best to undo the students’ hard work.

Hedberg Ford announced that the ‘73 Fords have arrived! This week’s ad features a ‘73 LTD, a ‘73 Torino and the new Pinto wagon for 1973. They also announced the winners of the attendance prizes with first place going to Kenneth Anderson, second place to Butch Smith and third to George Stevens.

“A good school where the students have the opportunity to learn and a good working relationship with the faculty” is Mr. Paul Nelson’s opinion of LPHS. A native of Lake Preston, he received his BS degree at Black Hills State where he majored in history and minored in biology and political science. Before coming back to Lake Preston, he taught biology and government at Beresford.

Mr. Nelson enjoys hunting and horseback riding and dislikes “people that think they’re better than others.” At LPHS, he teaches junior high social studies, history and geography and is head wrestling coach.

The free x-ray chest clinic spent Friday and Saturday in Lake Preston. On Friday morning, all school children were x-rayed, and on Friday afternoon and Saturday, the clinic trailer was moved uptown for the general public. The clinic is sponsored by the State Board of Health for the tuberculosis control program, giving the people an excellent opportunity to have their chests x-rayed. Lake Preston responded very well to the clinic, having a survey total of 582.

The mixed chorus at LPHS has been organized with Gordon Barlow president, Dorothy Tolzin vice president and Jack Hauck secretary/treasurer. We are fortunate to have a student accompanist for the music work. Phyllis Waldow, who is from Hetland, has had experience playing for the Hetland Glee Club and will be the accompanist this year.

AT THE MUSEUM

Bank table a part of Lake Preston history

BY MARY ROCKINO

Kingsbury Journal

Upon entering the museum, visitors are directed to the upper level, where the guest book sits on an ornate desk with an inlaid granite writing surface. This desk graced the front of one of the five banks in Lake Preston over the years.

A bank was very important to the community, and during the 1920s when banks were failing all over the United States, the Community State Bank of Lake Preston, which became the present First National Bank, was the one survivor in Kingsbury County.

A little-known fact about one of the banks in Lake Preston was when the Merchants Exchange Bank was sold to Chas. A. Alseth, and Ed C. Olston renamed it the 1st National Bank of Lake Preston. As this new bank was under the control of national banking laws, the bank was able to print $122,100 worth of national currency. The bank opened in 1915 and stopped printing money in 1924.

During its life, the bank issued three different types and denominations of national currency. They issued 2250 sheets of $5 blue seal national bank notes. Benjamin Harrison is on the front of all 1902 $5 blue seal bank notes, which happened to be the smallest denomination. The bank also printed 1542 sheets of $10 blue seal notes, which have a picture of William McKinley on them.

The other banks that were in the city were the Farmers National Bank and the Bank of Lake Preston.

The museum has artifacts from the early days, including a mortgage calculator and a check printer. There are photographs of all the banks and some of the “giveaways” banks doled out to their customers.

Visitors may notice some checks displayed from the Community State Bank. These were called “counter checks” and were given to local businesses to have on hand for their customers to use, should they have “forgotten their wallet at home.” This was before the widespread acceptance of credit cards, which did away with their use.

New business offers infrared sauna

BY AMY HALVERSON
Kingsbury Journal

Joan Karlen opened Heatwave Infrared Sauna in July of this year in De Smet. Karlen has many connections to De Smet and wanted to share the benefits of an infrared sauna with people in the area who could benefit from it.

Karlen is from Howard, but she grew up in the Spirit Lake area with De Smet being a common destination. Karlen has two grown children. Her daughter Jesselyn Seaton owns Lexi’s Closet in De Smet, and her son Justin Karlen has a diesel shop in rural Howard.

In 2020, Joan Karlen was severely injured in a horse accident that resulted in a spinal cord injury. She has been using many alternative therapies to promote healing and restoration, one of those being infrared saunas.

“I decided I wanted to share the health benefits with other people who maybe wouldn’t have easy access to it living in a small town,” said Karlen.

“I had been looking for a space and wasn’t really finding anything until I found out about an opening in De Smet. It’s pretty fun to think that I actually worked in that very same space for a while many years ago when it was the ASCS (now FSA) office. I have a lot of friends and family who live in Kingsbury County, so it wasn’t a hard choice!”

HEATWAVE INFRARED SAUNA

Heatwave Sauna utilizes a top-of-the-line radiant health infrared sauna that emits therapeutic far-infrared wavelengths from its panels. These wavelengths penetrate the tissues and work to raise the body’s core temperature, resulting in a detoxifying sweat.

Users will experience a boosted immune system, increased metabolism and circulation, accelerated healing and recovery and a significant decrease in achy muscles and stiff joints. The private studio room is equipped with complementary filtered drinking water, chilled cloths, spa towels and a sink for personal use. Essential oils are available upon request if desired.

PAIN RELIEF?

Infrared saunas work by emitting infrared light. The infrared waves penetrate into the body, which is much more effective than traditional saunas.

When body tissues are affected by infrared light, the heat helps them to relax, releasing tension and unwinding over several minutes. When muscles relax, they become less stiff and are better able to regenerate or recover from daily wear and tear.

HOW DOES THE PROCESS WORK?

The infrared sauna produces the same infrared heat that is produced by the sun, without the harmful UV rays. Infrared heat is required for all living things for optimum health.

Heatwave Infrared Sauna has this sauna available to help with pain relief, boost metabolism, increase circulation and speed up healing and recovery of injuries. (Submitted photo)

With infrared saunas, the heat penetrates deep into your muscles, joints and tissues, increasing blood and oxygen flow. Deeper tissues receive heat compared to just skin or tissues just beneath the skin, as with a traditional sauna.

The heat creates a false fever state, which helps the immune system to activate and produce more white blood cells. This can, over time, result in less inflammation and reduced swelling throughout the body. The reduced inflammation can help to reduce chronic pain as well.

Additionally, as the core body temperature elevates, capillaries and arteries will dilate, causing blood flow to increase. This allows more oxygen-rich blood to travel throughout the body, bringing both oxygen and other nutrients to places in need of them, which boosts the recovery process.

Infrared saunas help produce sweat, which can help purge certain toxins from the body.

BENEFITS

Everyone can benefit from infrared saunas, especially people with various chronic conditions or pain. Some conditions that might greatly benefit from regular infrared sauna sessions are peripheral arterial disease or PAD (severe leg pain), rheumatoid arthritis, fibromyalgia, chronic stress pain and muscle tension, back pain, headaches and migraines.

Patients suffering from many forms of arthritis can also benefit from time spent in an infrared sauna. Radiant heat has also been effective in the treatment of sprains, neuralgia, bursitis, muscle spasms, joint stiffness and many other muscular-skeletal ailments. Stiffness, aches and soreness that come with aging can also be reduced or eliminated.

1932: Gasoline theft led to murder, life in prison

September 26, 1912

Iver Lorzentzen, whose mysterious disappearance from Clear Lake about a month ago was a perplexing question, was located near Gary by the sheriff of Deuel County, who had started an investigation.

No explanation has been received as to why Lorzentzen took a notion to drop out of sight, but the fact that he is alive and well clears up that phase of the question.

Peter Schultz received a card from him last week, but no details were given.

H. C. Strub, one of the prosperous farmers near Iroquois, after looking over the many different makes of engine gang plows shown at the state fair, decided in favor of a John Deere, ten bottom gang, which he purchased of Glindinning & Bottomley of Iroquois. Strub has been making a success threshing with a new Aultman & Taylor 60 horsepower gasoline engine and a large separator.

After the threshing season is over, he expects to turn over some of the soil in his section southeast of town. Strub believes in good farming.

Sept. 29, 1932

Pleading guilty to the charge of participating in the murder of Arthur Back, night watchman at De Smet, before Judge Alva E. Taylor Saturday, Caswell Durham, 19 years old, was sentenced to the South Dakota penitentiary for life.

Henry Durham, older brother, was sentenced to five years in the penitentiary when he entered a plea of guilty to being an accessory after the fact.

Both prisoners were taken to Sioux Falls by Sheriff Swartz Saturday night.

Virgil Durham, 24, of Wolsey died in a Sioux City hospital Friday from the effects of wounds received while robbing a bulk filling station at De Smet on the night of Sept. 13, at which time Arthur Back, night watchman, was killed. Before passing away Virgil signed a full confession to the effect that it was a bullet from his gun that killed Back and that he was accompanied in the burglary by his brothers Caswell and Henry, but that the latter had no gun and remained in the car.

Caswell was arrested at his home near Wolsey by Kingsbury County officials, and Henry was picked up at Winterset, Iowa, to which place the family was about to move, and brought to De Smet. Murder charges were filed against Caswell who also made a confession to the effect that he fired a number of shots after having been caught by Back while they were engaged in robbing the oil station, but he also maintained that Henry remained in the car and was not armed.

Despite the statements of the brothers, State's Attorney Warren held Henry under a charge of complicity in the killing.

The attention of Sioux City authorities was first attracted to Virgil Durham when a doctor was called to a rooming house in that city to attend a man who was suffering from gangrene as the result of gunshot wounds. He was taken to the hospital and at first told different stories, but the Sioux City officials got in touch by telephone with Deputy States Attorney Eggen.

Sheriff Swartz and State's Attorney Warren immediately went to Sioux City, and after being closely questioned, Virgil Durham made a complete confession of the crime. Officials were under the impression that Virgil, knowing that his chance for recovery was slim, confessed to firing the fatal shot in order to shield his brother, but experts have found that the .38 caliber bullet that killed Back was from the gun carried by Virgil.

Caswell Durham says the brothers were on their way to Minnesota to pick berries and were without money, intending to steal gasoline on the way, but that Henry had no knowledge of the plans to commit the thefts.

The Durham boys are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Durham, who recently moved to a farm near Wolsey and who were preparing to move to Winterset, Iowa. There are ten children in the family.

States Attorney Warren, Assistant States Attorney Eggen and Sheriff Swartz acted quickly and efficiently after receiving a tip from Sioux City officers that a man was in a hospital in that city who had been shot. The Kingsbury County officials secured confessions and early pleadings, and the participants were soon on their way to the penitentiary with but little cost to the county.

There should be a lesson to would-be law breakers in this tragedy. In an attempt to steal a little gasoline with which to run an old car, a loyal officer of the law was killed, one of the participants in the burglary is dead from wounds received from the gun of the officer and two others are in the penitentiary, one for life.

Oct. 1, 1942

In an effort to conserve needed rubber, national gasoline rationing will be put into effect as soon as ration books can be prepared, probably the later part of this month, to be accompanied by an order to reduce automobile speed to 35 miles an hour. Advance notice would indicate that private automobiles will be allowed four gallons a week, with an additional allowance for car owners whose necessary business requires more travel, about the same plan as is now in effect in the eastern states.

The speed limit of 35 miles will be ordered at the time gasoline rationing goes into effect, and in the meantime, the public is requested to voluntarily reduce their driving speed. The governors of some states have issued proclamations requiring the order to become effective from the date of the proclamation.

The order will also require an inspection of tires every 60 days for the purpose of ascertaining the condition of the rubber. Thousands of filling stations which have no sideline will be forced out of business, and travel on the highways will be reduced to a minimum.

Fuel-oil rationing is also on the program, and homeowners who heat with oil will be allowed only about 75 percent of the quantity used last winter, which by the way, was an exceptionally mild winter. It is figured the amount of fuel oil to be rationed will permit a temperature of 65 degrees.

Transferable skills:
through youth sports

I LOVE SPORTS. I have enjoyed playing and watching sports for as long as I can remember. As someone who participated in a sport year-round in high school and continued in athletics (golf) in college, I am constantly grateful for the large impact being able to play competitive sports has had in my life.

Now, I am a parent, a proud coach of a young girls' soccer team and a more casual observer of youth athletics. I see youth sports through the lens of how they can impact our children. Statistically, most children who try a sport or activity while young will not compete in that activity in high school; still fewer will go on to college athletics, and of course, hardly any will play a sport professionally. But I still think, if done with the right goals in mind, prioritizing fun and learning, sports can do amazing things for children as they develop.

All sports can teach resilience and humility. Learning a new skill such as walking on a balance beam or hitting a fast ball is difficult but can be done with effort and persistence. Children can learn to manage their emotions and actions when things are not easy, because running a mile or making a putt takes persistence. They can learn to accept coaching and constructive criticism, skills we can all use as adults. They can quite literally fall down on the field or the court and learn to get back up and try again.

Another influential facet of sports is social. Being on a team teaches youth valuable social skills. Each child in a team sport will take a turn on the bench or sideline and learn to cheer on teammates. They can encourage their teammate having a difficult time at practice. They can learn to offer a hand to an opponent who has fallen down. They can learn how to respectfully shake their rival's hand after losing, winning or playing for fun.

Finally, sports can help shape our children's views of themselves and their bodies. Youth sports make exercise and activity fun, potentially affecting their view of exercise as an adult. Playing a sport helps young people focus on what their bodies can do and how it can feel, rather than how it looks or how someone judges it. Numerous studies have associated participation in sports with self-confidence. I think about that a lot with my own daughters.

I did not become a Sue Bird or a Serena Williams, and my children probably won't either. However, I hope all the youth in my life can experience fun and learn some lessons by being included in sports. It sure made a difference for me.

DID YOU KNOW?

From The Carthage News – June 30, 1982

The Carthage Roller Mill towered over the townsite, having been built east of the railroad tracks in 1885. George Stratton was the architect and builder, and the mill was powered by water from the Redstone. It was built at a cost of $17,000, and an 80-horsepower steam plant mechanized it. Its capacity was about 125 barrels of flour daily.

In 1893, they were making three kinds of flour. Trade names were “Cream of Dakota,” “Silver Moon” and “Golden Leaf.” Besides selling in nearby states, Carthage flour was sent to Helmet, Liverpool and Bristol, England and Glasgow, Scotland.

It ran into hard times including bankruptcy, falling into disrepair, poor crops and a fire in 1910.

Our sympathy goes out to Don Bohn and family on the loss of his wife Charmaine, whose funeral was on Friday.

I hope you were watching the clouds one day last week, as it was a splendid show about 7 p.m. They were a light yellowish-green with streaks of a slightly darker grayish-green shooting through them. The sky around them was light blue, changing to a beautiful bright blue directly overhead. It was a very different-looking sky than I had ever seen before.

I'm sorry folks, I know there is a lot of news out there somewhere, but "nobody tells me nuttin'."

Proposed Adopted Fiscal Year Budget 2023: Bus. Mgr. Susan Purintun gave a review of changes to the FY2023 budget. The changes to the General Fund Appropriations of $67,035 from the July budget hearing consisted of additional ESSER funded positions for the lower elementary grades and learning loss paraprofessional position in the middle/high school along with adjustments in staffing in the operations and maintenance and activity salaries.

Overall, this fiscal year budget increases $49,091 over budgeted FY22. The increase includes funding of the ESSER learning loss programs, increases to salaries and benefits, utilities, services and insurance. The increases will be funded through increased enrollment, state aid and federal ESSER funds along with a transfer in from the capital outlay fund.

The Capital Outlay Fund Appropriations changed $21,613 from the proposed budget of July. There was additional technology equipment that needed to be added along with athletic equipment for the football program. The initial proposed budget included a smaller transfer to General Fund that was increased but may not need to be utilized.

The District has the latitude for up to $522,658 for this year, the final year of that amount of transfer per SDCL funding laws. The transfer in amount will be settled toward the end of the fiscal year. School districts are allowed to levy per student $3544 times enrollment of FY21. This is less than what the District previously could levy per using the per thousand levy times District valuation. Funding areas in the Capital Outlay that saw fluctuations were the ESSER funds that have not been set for construction purposes that will submitted as the LIW construction projects lay out.

The Capital Outlay budget decreased by $357,871 from budgeted expenditures of last fiscal year 2022. Most of those dollars were in lowering of ESSER funding and the LIW project expenses of architects and engineers. Those expenses have now been moved to the project fund.

Special Education expenditures proposed in July were reduced by $30,021 due to a decrease in current staffing and the adoption of the NESC budget. While it is likely that the staff position will need to be filled in the future, the administration will monitor the student needs and placements.

While the budget was reduced from the initial plans, the overall proposed budget is $75,625 higher than the budgeted expenditure budget of FY22. Increases included salaries, benefits and services. Due to the increases and utilization of fund balances over the past several years, it is time to look at increasing the tax levy to keep pace with the levy of $1.599 in order to be eligible for the extra-ordinary cost fund. The District is currently at $1.00. It would be prudent to look at the future needs of the students and increase the levy 25 cents, which still would be less then the required amount, but will give the Board ease to increase if needed in the future. While this will not put the district at the necessary amount for this year, the fund balance on hand will most likely foresee any current high expenses and allow the administration and board to continue to monitor fiscally if it is necessary to make the larger request when needed. The De Smet School District has not been able to capture state aid to SPED for many years due to the District’s ability to fully fund the programs due to the current property valuations.

The proposed resolution of adopted tax levies for the General Fund are set by the Legislature. The District will continue to utilize the $200,000 opt out. Board discussion was held as to the Special Education levy and the board agreed that it was prudent at this point to raise the levy to $1.25 and utilize fund balance for the remainder.

While there is no change to the proposed budget for the Bond Redemption, the board heard that the bonds had been marketed the previous week. Jerry Spethman, of DA Davidson & Co. noted that American Bank and Trust purchased 5.33% of the entire issue. The levy for taxes payable 2023 is at an estimated amount of 33 cents per $1000. The full levy amount estimated on current valuations is 97 cents per thousand and will not be implemented until FY25 as the initial payments will be paid through the bonded issuance fund. The levy being requested will establish the bond fund for purposes of fluctuating valuations in future years to assure adequate dollars available.

ATTEST:

City Finance Officer, De Smet, SD

PUBLIC COMMENTS: None.

PROJECT UPDATES: Shane Waterman, Engineer for IMEG, submitted a written update on the Brewster Wastewater Project, the water problem with a residence on 1st Street, and the utility mapping.

A construction change order for the Brewster wastewater project was presented to the council decreasing the project amount -$2,438.54. Changes to the project include adding a manhole ring and cover that the city was originally going to provide for the project, but the ring and cover in the city inventory was a different size. Other changes included were reduced quantities needed for gravel and various items, and taking off the deflection test. Total construction costs for the Brewster wastewater project total $83,842.46. Motion was made by Spader, seconded Asleson, to approve Change order #1 (Final) decreasing the Brewster wastewater construction project by -$2,438.54, all voting aye, motion carried. An amendment in the amount of $7,977.65 for engineering services for the Brewster wastewater project was presented to the council. Questions for the additional engineering fee were discussed. Motion was made by Hansen, seconded by Jensen, to table the amendment for additional engineering for the Brewster wastewater project, all voting aye, motion carried.

Engineer Waterman has been consulted with regarding the on-going problem with the discolored water at a residence on 1st Street since mid-May. Delrean and Chris Gilligan were present for the council meeting. Water Supt. Springer had obtained an estimate to purchase a flush hydrant for the private line in the amount of $1,600.00 without installation. Installing a flush hydrant would not be a permanent solution to correct the problem. Looping the private line would not be as effective. The best solution to correct the problem would be to abandon the private 2" line and connect each service line to the water main.

Cedric Hay and the council discussed the current lot that is up for discussion that Jerry Brown owns. The current predicament is that the city water and sewer infrastructure is currently under his property- in which there is no previous easement.

Wienk stated that the chamber had inquired about putting an advertising sign on the Ambulance lot as you drive into town from the East. Discussed that there is already a Chamber sign on that end of town, it should go on the west end of town.

Jerry Brown in at 4:36 pm.

Brown inquired about the city not putting 12” storm sewer line on his road, on Lake Ave North. Hay stated that as the project progresses there may be areas to save money, in this case we could fit in new storm sewer in as a change order to the project. Hays inquired about 2 service lines on Browns Minden property- getting those put in next year. Council inquired about the county shed lot on Minden Ave that’s already surrounded by Browns land. Longville inquired about $5,000, Wienk stated that a lot by the Manor is currently selling for $10,000. Brown wanted to discuss the truck route; how ridiculous it is to have them go on Main St. then to 5th St.- when they could go straight down Park Ave N. Schnell inquired about $20,000 for the lot, Verhey inquired about $10,000 and the county shed lot. Verhey inquired about just purchasing the sliver of land that the water and sewer run under. Discussed a fire hydrant that is on the corner of Lake Ave N and 7th St. Longville inquired about $10,000 for the sliver. PUBLIC COMMENT

Chairman Kazmerzak asked for public comment.

Farrel Jacobsen, Badger joined the meeting to discuss the replacement of a culvert on CR10. Jacobsen stated he believes a different sized culvert was put in and there are rules in place that does not allow the culvert size to be changed.

Dave Sorenson, Highway Superintendent, joined the meeting and explained the culvert in question is an overflow culvert and the size of the culvert should not change the flow of the water. Sorenson also stated that the old culvert was so crumbled that it was hard to tell the actual size. He stated it may have been a 30” culvert, which is a special order, but it was hard to determine.

Commissioner Lundquist asked Jacobsen if his request was to remove the 36” culvert and replace it with a 30” culvert. Jacobsen stated that is what needs to be done because the size of the culvert needs to be the same size of what was replaced according to the rules.

After further discussion it was determined that the culvert would remain and further investigation would be required.

SHARKS FOOTBALL

Elks come away with rain delayed win over Sharks

BY KRISTI CURD
Kingsbury Journal

The Iroquois/Lake Preston Sharks football team traveled to take on the Elkton/Lake Benton Elks last Friday

Sharks, 0
Elks, 50
NEXT GAME
Sept. 30 @ Iroquois vs Colman-Egan night for a Dakota Valley Conference clash. The Elks were touting an undefeated record, and the Sharks were hoping for an upset. Rain was in the forecast, but the evening started off with beautiful weather. Just when the clouds looked as though they may blow over, the rain started falling as the teams were being announced.

The Sharks won the coin toss and elected to receive the opening kick-off.

Jake Larsen was back to receive the kick at the 20-yard line and took it up-field for a 15-yard return. The Sharks would start their opening drive on the 35-yard line.

I/LP quarterback Josh McMasters began by handing the ball to Larsen for a one-yard gain. The second play was another run, this time to the left side for a short gain for Larsen.

Third time was the charm as Larsen found a hole on the left side and ran for 30 yards. The run would give Larsen and the Sharks a first down on the Elk 33-yard line.

Larsen was called on again and rushed for a short gain. McMasters kept the ball on the next play and was downed in the backfield for a five-yard loss. He then pitched the ball back to Larsen on third down, and they were able to gain back a yard. The Sharks were looking at fourth down with 12 yards to go.

It appeared that the Sharks were going to go for it, but McMasters retrieved the snap and punted it away to the Elks. Elkton/Lake Benton would start on their own 17-yard line.

The Elks were called on a block-in-the-back penalty which bumped them back a few more yards. The Sharks were able to stop the Elks on two consecutive plays, resulting in a fourth down with 24 yards to go.

The Shark defense looked very strong in this drive, and they would force Elkton/Lake Benton to punt from their own endzone.

The Elkton/Lake Benton punter was surrounded by a group of the Sharks' special team's unit. He barely got off the punt. McMasters was back deep to receive the punt, but the ball slipped through his waiting arms, and the Elks would recover the fumble and take it over very near their own 37-yard line.

The Elks then took advantage of the Sharks' miscue and wasted no time in scoring on a 44-yard touchdown pass from Ryan Krog to Carson Griffith. The two-point conversion run by Krog was successful, and with 3:41 left in the first quarter, the Elks would lead 0-8.

The rain may have made the ball extra slick. On the next kick-off to the Sharks, Riley Casper had the ball slip through his arms, but this time fellow Shark Ben Curd was able to pounce on the ball to keep possession.

Unfortunately, it would be a quick three-and-out for the Sharks, and they ended up punting the ball away.

Elkton/Lake Benton would revert to passing again, and after a few failed attempts, Krog found Tanner Stein for a 29-yard touchdown pass. The two-point conversion try would be no good, and the Elks would stretch their lead to 14 with no time left in the first quarter.

The second quarter found the Sharks consistently gaining on some short yardage plays but unable to put points on the board. The Elks were effective offensively and scored again on a 51-yard pass from Krog to Tanner Drietz. The two-point attempt was unsuccessful.

The Sharks had given up 20 points just as lightning was becoming an issue. The officials opted to delay the game with 2:42 remaining in the first half.

After a 90-minute lightning delay, the teams came back out to the field to stretch and loosen up for the next half of play.

The third quarter was dominated by the Elks' offense, as they racked up 24 more points on three touchdowns: two rushing touchdowns by quarterback Krog and one pass completion to Stein.

The Elks also completed all of their conversions, and at the end of the third quarter, the Sharks were down 0-44.

Wienk for their two receiving yards. Defensively, the Sharks were led by Jonah Denison and Curd, each with three tackles. Denison also contributed one sack for the Sharks.

"Friday, we struggled both offensively and defensively," said Coach Kaufman. "Offensively, it took us about two drives to start moving the ball well. Defensively, we needed to wrap and rally to the ball. Some of our goals for this week are to continue working on maintaining blocks, wrapping up and rallying to the ball. However, our number one goal is to get, and stay, healthy."

The Sharks were expecting to have their hands full with the undefeated Elks, but they came out strong and hung on until the second half. They return home for an Iroquois homecoming game on Sept. 30 against the 0-5 Colman-Egan C-E Hawks.
