Are you ready for some football?

Get ready for the upcoming season with this guide to OC football

ALEX BOYER
ALEX@LACLEDERECORD.COM

With jamborees set to begin on August 20 and the regular season on Friday, August 27, here is a guide that will break down the Ozark Conference football league this year.

Editor's note: These previews are in random order and do not indicate how I believe the standings will play out.

Bolivar Liberators: 7-3 in 2020, Head coach Glen Johnson

The Liberators have brought life back into the Ozark Conference football world after replacing Central. Last year, Bolivar went 7-3 with big-time wins over Lebanon, Camdenton, and OC champion West Plains in their debut season. The team graduated a senior class who helped guide the team to the district semifinals, but they have shown they belong with the big boys. Leading the way will be senior James Miller. An All-Ozark Conference player in 2020, the 300-pound offensive and defensive lineman will make a huge impact. Bolivar will look to senior Brant Meredith and sophomore Drake Durham at the quarterback position. The defense will see a makeover, but still, look for the Liberators to be in the upper half of the standings when the season is all said and done.

Waynesville Tigers: 2-7 in 2020, Head coach Joe Haynes

Since arriving two years ago, Joe Haynes deserves a lot of credit for the work he has done with the Waynesville football program. Despite a 2-7 record, the Tigers still pulled off a mid-season win over the Bolivar Liberators and have some of the most dynamic talent in the OC. Eric Richardson returns for the Tigers after 678 yards as a junior and can play multiple positions on offense. The Tigers graduated all of their pass-catching targets, which means Marion Flame will take over the No. 1 receiver role after 300 yards on 23 receptions last year. Be on the lookout for Niko Fau (6-foot-4, 314 lbs), who is primed for a big junior season.

Kickapoo Chiefs: 4-5 in 2020, Head coach Nate Thomas

Kickapoo started the 2020 season off 3-0 but lost five of their last six games. The Chiefs return some big names on defense, including linebacker Reed Jensen, edge rusher Andrew Link, and cornerback Samias Pickett. The team loses a lot on offense, but Zaide Lowery will be a top receiver for head coach Nate Thomas in the Ozark Conference. Kickapoo will be looking for their first winning season in four years.

Rolla Bulldogs: 5-4 in 2020, Head coach Jon Franks

The Bulldogs played in a plethora of close games last year, and now the Bulldogs return nine starters on the offensive side of the ball after averaging more than 30 PPG. Adam Hounsom returns under center for Jon Franks after throwing for nearly 1,000 yards and rushing for 330. Hayden Fane will return as his counterpart in the backfield after rushing for seven touchdowns in 2020. Gage Klossner and Ethan Crouch are also names to watch. On defense, Franks brings back two key players in Ty Locklear and Waylon Kinder. The Bulldogs should be a threat to anyone in 2021 after winning four of its last five games.

Lebanon Yellowjackets: 7-4 in 2020, Head coach Will Christian

Lebanon won their third district title in four years under head coach Will Christian after a 52-18 blowout win over the Glendale Falcons. The team does lose a lot of talent on both sides of the ball but will be led by All-State offensive lineman and Mizzou football commit Tristan Wilson (6-foot-5, 295 lbs). This fall, Caden Brown, Zack Smith, and Tim Pruitt will be joining him again on the line. Peyton Mitchell returns for his second season under center despite missing a handful of games with a shoulder injury. Nathan Bartel will be a name fans hear a lot about this fall after rushing for 600 yards on 52 carries and eight touchdowns. On defense, a young secondary will hope to make plays with sophomore Gavin Smith leading the way. Junior Cade Muscia returns in the middle of the defense after totaling 73 tackles in 2020. Logan Lybarger, Jacoby Fultz, Jarrett Sing, and Zack Rose will be other critical returners on the defensive side of the ball. If this team can stay healthy, they should compete for an OC title and district championship.

Glendale Falcons: 6-5 in 2020, Head coach Mike Mauk

When you see the Glendale Falcons this year, you'll hear a lot about senior outside linebacker Cooper Roy. Roy holds offers from Missouri State, Miami (Ohio), Indiana State, Buffalo Navy, Bowling Green, Toledo, and more. He recorded a state-record 25 sacks during the 2020 campaign. Connor McTague and Gavin Stidham make up the inside linebacker core and will be a huge key to success for the Falcons. Cole Feuerbacher returns at quarterback for a high-potent offense, with Derek Horton, Chris Floyd, and Carter Harrel returning at receiver.

West Plains Zizzers: 10-2 in 2020, Head coach Matt Perkins

The West Plains Zizzers sat atop the OC standings last year, and head coach Matt Perkins is a big reason why. The Zizzers lost to eventual Class 4 state champion Helias Catholic in the quarterfinal round of districts, 36-30. The offense averaged 42.3 PPG in 2020 and bring back quarterback Dagen Kenslow and offensive lineman Jaylon James. Connor Lair is a big-time player on both sides of the ball for the Zizzers, who will see the ball in his hands more. The league will probably show a lot more talent in 2021 than years past, but West Plains will be a team fans should keep an eye out for when the postseason comes around.

Camdenton Lakers: 5-6 in 2020, Head coach Jeff Shore

The Lakers are coming off a losing season but are just two years removed from an undefeated conference season. They will look to get back on track with Bear Shore taking over the reins at quarterback this fall. Dakota Davis and Zane Thompson will be the leaders of the hogs upfront. Javari Stewart and Cam Durbin are back at receiver while Wiley Powers, Jaden Parkman, and Cooper Miller will be mainstays on the Camdenton defense. Look for the Lakers to try and get back to their winning ways in 2021.

Parkview Vikings: 0-6 in 2020, Head coach Ben Dougherty

Parkview went winless in 2020 after being able to play just six games due to COVID-19 quarantines. The team will look for senior Caden Burks to step up in a big way. Chris Anderson returns at wide receiver after a solid 2020 season. It will be interesting to see how head coach Ben Dougherty and the Vikings respond to a tough campaign.

Hillcrest Hornets: 2-9 in 2020, Head coach Lee Coleman

Lee Coleman takes over at Hillcrest and will be thrown into the fire right away with a challenging first game at Lebanon to start the season. The Hornets struggled in 2020, but the team brings back Jacob Gott and Tracen Tate on their offensive line. Mike Floyd is the quarterback after throwing for 1,655 yards and 11 touchdowns, while Dante Sample will move to the running back spot this year after playing tight end. Coleman is a graduate of Hillcrest High School and should look to get things turned around for a program that has struggled the past few seasons.

City council approves traffic studies

Studies will be used to find where a new traffic signal is needed on Elm Street

STEVE SMITH
SSMITH@LACLEDERECORD.COM

The Lebanon City Council Monday approved traffic studies for major intersections to improve traffic flow in the city.

Street Superintendent Mike Moore said the studies will address proposed traffic flow improvements for the city's street network. The studies will determine current levels of services and provide recommendations for improvement.

The studies will look at the intersections of Harwood Avenue and Clark Avenue, Cowan Drive and Millcreek Road, Jefferson Avenue and Fremont Road and Washington Avenue. The studies will also recommend a location for adding a new traffic signal along the Elm Street corridor between Springfield Road and Ivey Lane. The Council approved a task order for $18,900 to CJW Transportation Consultants for the studies.

The Council also authorized asphalt mill and fill overlay for Commercial street between Jefferson Avenue and Jackson Street with improvements at the intersections of Madison, Monroe and Jackson and colored thermo-plastic crosswalks. The city has budgeted $250,000 for the work.

The Council approved a resolution accepting the results of last week's election in which voters approved a 1/2 cent sales tax for parks and stormwater improvements. Mayor Jared Carr thanked voters for passing the tax and said the Council plans to meet with the Park Board for a work session to talk about their plans.

The Council also approved a new water main for the Nelson Court Subdivision, which, the city said will make new housing possible in the area. The Council approved the purchase of materials for installation of the main from Ferguson Waterworks for $10,243.

The council also approved contracting with Cynthia Honssinger-Coffman to serve as executive director for the Downtown Business District. The city agreed to contribute $30,000 of the $45,000 compensation for her services.

The Council approved a $25,417 change order with McClanahan Construction for the wastewater plant project.

Also approved was the purchase of street-light material from Harry Cooper for $7,800.

Harry Cooper was not the low bidder but can deliver the material more quickly than the low bidder.

Carr said the Army Donations Program Office contacted the city about receiving a Cobra AH-1 helicopter. He said the city is working on transportation.

Former Colorado AG picked for Downtown job

Cynthia Honssinger-Coffman is a Lebanon native

CITY OF LEBANON

The Lebanon Downtown Business District Board has made their choice for the next Downtown Business District executive director.

Cynthia Honssinger-Coffman will succeed Ashton Light as the next executive director of the booming business district.

A Lebanon native and 1979 Lebanon High School graduate, Honssinger-Coffman, currently manages the Coffman Partnership, a consulting firm for government affairs, public policy, legal and regulatory compliance, and state attorney general relations. She served as Attorney General for the State of Colorado from 2015 to 2019.

Honssinger-Coffman

is a 1983 graduate of the University of Missouri with bachelor's degree in speech communication with minors in marketing and political science. She received her juris doctorate degree in 1991 from Georgia State University College of Law. Honssinger-Coffman has extensive legal and executive experience along with experience in non-profit and corporate fundraising.

According to Steve Hite, DTBD Board president, the board had an outstanding pool of candidates to choose from, but Honssinger-Coffman's level of experience propelled her to the top of the list.

"Cynthia has deep roots in Lebanon and a real passion for our downtown and our community," Hite said. "With 22 years of government service in a variety of positions including serving the State of Colorado as its attorney general, the Board felt that Cynthia possessed the background and qualifications needed to implement the strategy of our downtown revitalization program by engaging our community, downtown businesses and property owners in the vision and mission of Downtown Lebanon."

Hite said the board believes she could also provide important insight into formulating successful fundraising needed to accomplish the board's goals.

"We are just really excited to have Cynthia back home and look forward to continued momentum and success in our downtown revitalization," Hite said.

Honssinger-Coffman said she is thrilled to return home and contribute to the success of Downtown Lebanon.

"I have had a successful career building public-private partnerships, forging coalitions, and bringing stakeholders together to advance projects and meet goals," Honssinger-Coffman said.

"Downtown Lebanon has such strong support from the City and a broad cross-section of its citizens. It's my objective to bring all these talented folks together and channel their ideas and enthusiasm into a thriving local business district."

Honssinger-Coffman said she has paid close attention to Downtown Lebanon's recent revitalization and been impressed by the commitment to thoughtful growth and development that meets a variety of needs.

"Now I get to be part of the transformation process, and I couldn't be more excited," she said.

"It's been my longtime wish to get back to Lebanon and rejoin the community that's meant so much to me and my family. Growing up in Lebanon, I learned what a community was supposed to be. Downtown was a vibrant destination for shopping and socializing. I'm excited by the opportunity to help reimagine Commercial Street and the Business District, both now and into the future," Honssinger-Coffman said.

Jim Bohannon inducted into radio hall of fame

The nationally syndicated radio host is a Lebanon High School graduate

SSMITH@LACLEDERECORD.COM

Lebanon High School graduate Jim Bohannon was honored last Saturday in Branson by the Missouri Broadcasters Association.

Bohannon is one of three people nominated in 2020 to be inducted into the MBA's Hall of Fame. Bohannon and other 2020 nominees Don Hicks and Betsey Bruce were honored along with 2021 inductees, broadcaster Charlie Earls and St. Louis Cardinals announcer John Rooney.

Bohannon is the long-time host of the nationally syndicated "Jim Bohannon Show," which is part of the Westwood One Radio Network.

Laclede County Record owner Dalton Wright introduced Bohannon at the ceremony.

Wright said Bohannon began his broadcast career at Lebanon radio station KLWT and continued to be engaged in Lebanon.

"He was the marshal of many parades, he addressed political issues with the Chamber of Commerce, civic groups and became a founding member of the Hall of Fame and one of the most deserving people who ever got that," Wright said. "It was obvious that Jim had a lot of skill as an on-air personality."

Wright also praised Bohannon's skills as a debate moderator.

Accepting the honor, Bohannon recalled his early days at KLWT on the east end of Commercial Street, where he worked while he was still in college.

"We called KLWT, 'Keep Listening We're Trying' but we had some good people there, we really did," he said. He said they included announcer Tom Clay and newsman Tom Miller.

"I got into this racket for the noble impulse of meeting girls, for those old enough to get the cultural reference, I was the white Steve Urkel of Lebanon, Mo.," he said.

Bohannon went on to say that he has been honored and rewarded "far beyond my meager contributions to friends, family, city, state or country."

"I look at the august list of names I'm joining tonight and it only adds to my humility, so thank you very, very much," he said.

After graduating college, Bohannon enlisted in the military and served a tour of duty in Vietnam. He also was stationed in Washington D.C., where he stayed and worked in radio after leaving the Army.

In 1980, Bohannon left D.C. for Chicago, where he worked for WCFL-FM. He also worked as a bureau reporter for the then new CNN. The following year, he began working as a backup host for "The Larry King Show," according to the MBA.

Bohannon talked about his career in radio, including a stint in Chicago.

"Larry King brought his show to Chicago, borrowed one of our engineers and broadcast from the lobby of the Hyatt Hotel. I owe my career and the fact I'm talking to you here today to a mechanic who left a wrench in a rocket at Cape Canaveral," he said.

In 1981 he said King was taking time off from his show and his backup Jim Slade was covering a space launch.

"The space launch was delayed and Jim Slade was stuck at Cape Canaveral and they said, 'Who's on the bench? What about this guy Bohannon?' So they called me into Washington to fill in for Larry that's how I got my big break," Bohannon said.

Bohannon started his own call-in show in 1984. In 1993, Larry King's show was moved to an afternoon time slot and Bohannon was offered King's old time slot. "The Jim Bohannon Show" debuted in 1993 and is still on the air.

Bohannon now resides in South Carolina with his wife, Annabelle.

Local pastor, best-selling author launches new book

LCR STAFF
EDITOR@LACLEDERECORD.COM

Local author and pastor Larry Dugger of Family Church is launching his latest book "Unshakable: A 40-Day Guide to Overcoming Anxiety, Worry, and Emotional Distress" next week.

A book launch party for Dugger's new book will be held from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Aug. 14 at Jude's Coffee Company, 211 East Elm St. The first 10 signed copies will be free.

Dugger says that his new book is for those who are going through a "shaky life experience."

"So many people lie awake at night, staring at the ceiling, without any real plan on how to escape worrisome thoughts or moments of anxiety. If they knew what to do, in order to move past what's drowning them, they would have already done it," Dugger said. "Unshakable explains how you can get over what's dragging you under. It's more than a challenge to face emotional distress head on, it's a 40-day action plan that actually works."

According to Dugger, the information in this book is more than a theory or good idea.

"I've seen the easy to follow, well outlined information in 'Unshakable' work in the lives of thousands of counseling clients over the years. I have even included a few of their stories in this book," Dugger said.

Unshakable is being published by Fidelis Publishing Group. It will be available on Amazon and everywhere books are sold on Aug. 18.

Dugger is a Hartville native, graduating from Hartville High School in 1991. He now lives in Lebanon with his wife, Karen. They have two sons, Trent and Payte Dugger and their wives Said and Jaedyn. They also have a grandson, Judah.

Along with his pastor duties, Dugger is also a prolific writer. He is the author of many books, including "40 Days to Defeat Your Past" and "Raised Hunting." He has appeared on both the Discovery Channel and the Outdoor Channel.

"This makes it official! Our dream of building an Alumni Plaza to preserve the history of where Lebanon Public Schools began is happening right before our eyes," said Eddie Smith, LHS Alumni Association President in a press release, "The Lebanon community is filled with some of most generous people I've ever known. Those who donated by buying a brick, by joining the association or those who made more sizable contributions are the ones who have made this a reality."

Smith said more than $100,000 has been raised for the project.

"Very soon we will walk across this future project with a smile on our face and our chest swelled with pride," Smith said at the groundbreaking ceremony. "Our school spirit will still come alive as future visitors and future generations come to visit this place."

According to Becki Carr, LHS Association Brick Committee Chair, nearly 1,500 engraved bricks have been sold which will outline the entire Plaza.

Overseeing the project is Lester Capps, LHS Plaza Development Chair.

"We have ordered the historic markers, the donor signage, the bronze sculpture and the columns that represent the Adams, Washington, Wallace and Rainey buildings," Capps said. "John Angst has already started the delicate process of moving the Adams building steps and we have a plan to move the original school bell. Things are definitely progressing."

Dedication of the LHS Plaza at the area of the former junior high school will take place at the 150 year Celebration of Lebanon

Morgan Community

I've had a busy week working in the garden. I've been picking cucumbers, yellow squash and tomatoes. I pulled up my green beans. I'm gonna get me some turnip seeds and get them planted.

Rick and Marsha Jackson came down today to see mom for a little bit. Wednesday Marshal and Aiden spent the day with Mimi. Wednesday evening Uncle Jerry and Uncle Kenny came out to check up on us. We enjoyed our visit with them.

I want to say thank you to Denny and Sue Massey. I appreciate my watermelons so much. I absolutely love watermelon.

I was at Morgan Store Saturday. I seen quite a few of our friends and neighbors. It was good to visit with everyone. I want to send out a big hello to a lady. This lady's son came into the store Saturday and said his mom reads my news each week. I believe her name was Wanda Howerton. If that isn't correct I apologize. I slept Saturday night and that's all it takes for my memory to fail me.--Penny Dame

Laclede County 4-H awarded $2K grant

FROM LAF

Laclede County 4-H has received a grant of $2,000 to sponsor the annual Achievement Day event, the annual Recognition Night event, the 4-H National Congress scholarship, and the Life Skills programming for Laclede County foster youth.

The money comes from the Heritage Endowment fund established with the Lebanon Area Foundation on April 8, 1997 and created from the profits of the publication of the Laclede County History Book. Started in 1978, the book was compiled by several people led by Lois Roper Beard. The book contains family histories of Laclede County families and their descendants.

The income that is generated each year from this endowed fund used to benefit the rural youth of Laclede County through grants. Laclede County FFA and 4-H have benefited greatly from the interest of the fund over the years. This year, the Laclede County Heritage Fund received two requests. The first request was made for support of the Community of Christ Church’s Free Skate Program and the second request was made for support of the Laclede County 4-H.

The Laclede County 4-H has specifically requested funds to support their annual Achievement Night, their annual Recognition Night, and to send eligible 4-Hers to the Citizenship Washington Focus Conference in 2020.

With a modest principal of $21,920.00, the interest generated from the fund has provided a total of $13,246.37 of support for programs that benefit the rural youth of Laclede County. The principal is left untouched and the fund will go on in perpetuity.

Local youth chosen to serve as a state 4-H ambassador

FROM LACLEDE 4-H

Twenty-four Missouri 4-H youth ages 14-18 have been selected by the State 4-H Council to serve this year as the first class of Missouri 4-H Ambassadors.

Molly Archer, a Laclede County Barn Bums 4-H club member, has been selected from the West Central Region of Missouri. Molly is the daughter of Robert and Jamey Archer.

As Missouri 4-H Ambassadors, these youth leaders will be tasked with promoting 4-H programs throughout the state. They will also help plan and facilitate Teen Conference on May 31 and June 1, 2022.

Up to four youth were selected from each of Missouri 4-H’s eight regions. These 4-H’ers will help their Regional Representatives increase visibility at local, county and regional events, gather and utilize youth opinion and further develop youth-adult partnerships at the regional level. The Missouri State Fair, August 12 to 22, will be the first event the Ambassadors will assist with.

This is a new leadership opportunity at the state level in Missouri 4-H.

“We’re excited to provide a developmental leadership opportunity for our teens,” said Samantha Branderberry, State 4-H Educator. “We anticipate that the adoption of this program will help strengthen youth leadership skills and confidence to prepare them for elevated leadership levels on the State 4-H Council, at college and in their future careers.”

Interim 4-H Youth Specialist Elaine Anderson added, “I am glad to see some of these very talented kids reach for 4-H opportunities. We appreciate Molly and Logan and their parents for the commitment to our program. Congratulations Molly.”

FROM LAKE REGIONAL

Lake Regional Health System announces Greg Miller, M.D., has joined Lake Regional Clinic – Lebanon. Dr. Miller is board certified in family medicine.

“We are pleased to have Dr. Miller join our Lebanon team,” said Rachel Bailey, Lebanon clinic manager. “Our community will benefit from his experience in providing comprehensive care to patients of all ages.”

Dr. Miller has been drawn to medicine since he was 9 years old. He finds it rewarding to help people manage complex medical conditions, and he especially enjoys taking care of children, including newborns and well-child visits.

“The combination of caring for people and the scientific aspects of medicine has always been very appealing to me, even as a young child,” Dr. Miller said. “As I have become more experienced in the practice of medicine, I see the immense value of preventative care and place a strong emphasis on identifying and modifying risk factors and behaviors that may lead to severe disease down the road if left unchecked.”

Dr. Miller earned his medical degree from the University of Missouri-Columbia School of Medicine, where he also completed his residency. He chose family medicine so he could develop long-lasting relationships with his patients.

Miller

“A good patient-physician relationship begins with mutual respect and developing a familiarity with each other that can provide unique insights into a patient’s needs,” Dr. Miller said. “I feel like the better I can get to know my patients, the better care I can give.”

Dr. Miller lives in Lebanon with his wife, Carrie, and their three teenage children. He prioritizes spending time with family, and his faith is very important to him. In his free time, he likes being outdoors and enjoys fishing, hunting, horses and the rodeo.

Along with Dr. Miller, Lake Regional’s primary care team in Lebanon includes Jeffrey Fears, M.D.; Kimber Guinn, D.O.; Dan Johnson, MSN, APRN-BC; Neil Schwartzman, M.D.; and Laura Seaman, FNP-C. Virtual visits are available.

Dear Abby

PARENTS TOLD THAT THEIR SON AND HIS WIFE ARE SWINGERS

DEAR ABBY: My son and his wife have been living with us for two and a half years so they can save for a house. Recently, my best friend told me that a mutual acquaintance spotted a picture of my son and his wife on a swinger website. At first I discounted it. Then I started noticing they were going out every Friday and Saturday night. My daughter-in-law was usually dressed provocatively, and they wouldn't get home until around 5 or 5:30 a.m. My husband and I are both Christians. Neither of us feel comfortable about the situation. What do you recommend we do? -- INCREDULOUS IN TEXAS

DEAR INCREDULOUS: Your son and his wife are adults. You can't force them to live according to your religious beliefs. But neither do you have to give tacit consent and foster their living a life you do not approve of by turning a blind eye. Check the website for yourself. If what you heard is the gospel, it may be time your adult children made other living arrangements.

DEAR ABBY: My friend "Lois" is in her 70s. She met a man on a dating site several years ago. I warned her he was a romance scammer, but she kept talking to him. She even sent him a few hundred dollars. Since then, she talks to more than one stranger who I'm pretty sure are scammers as well.

Lois lives on Social Security, but sometimes comes into small windfalls from a stimulus or the sale of items. I suspect she's sending them money, too. She has been in a relationship with a man she lives with for several years. When I asked her how she would like it if he were doing the same thing, Lois told me she would stop. Now I see she is friends with three or four more strange men on Facebook! I don't know them, but they sometimes "like" things I post. (I will have to change my settings so that strangers can't see my posts.)

What's wrong with her? Does she like to pretend she is rich? They keep sending friend requests to me and my sister. Of course, we don't accept them. We have warned Lois about this, yet she continues to do the same thing. What can I do? -- SEEING CLEARLY IN GEORGIA

DEAR SEEING CLEARLY: Lois is an adult. You have warned her that what she's doing is a mistake. It may be a waste of her money, but you can't control her behavior, so accept that fact and live your own life accordingly.

Dear Abby is written by Abigail Van Buren, also known as Jeanne Phillips, and was founded by her mother, Pauline Phillips. Contact Dear Abby at www.DearAbby.com or P.O. Box 69440, Los Angeles, CA 90069.
