THOUGHT FOR TODAY
Preach the word, be prepared in season and out of season; correct, rebuke and encourage with great patience and careful instruction. (2 Timothy 4:2)

PRAYER: Dear Father, help us to move beyond our reluctance and fear and embrace opportunities to share the good news in any place. Amen.

IN OUR OPINION
Empower parents without waffling on freedom to read

A stakeholder group fears that young adult books dealing with sexuality and gender could corrupt or confuse Wilson County School students.

We have identified several books available in Wilson County middle and high school libraries that contain graphic descriptions of sexual acts and other controversial subject matter. We are concerned that parents should be able to read these books in their entirety and determine for themselves which books to lend to their children.

The message lists several books available at Elm City and Forest Hills middle schools and the Forest Hills High School library, including the controversial novel The Piano Teacher, by Harold Bloom, and the medical textbook Gray’s Anatomy for Students, 4th edition, by Frank H. Netter, M.D.

We have requested that the Wilson Board of Education give parents more oversight when it comes to what their children check out from school libraries.

Sixteen books found in Wilson County school libraries are erroneously listed as obscene. The PEP helpfully tells the story of North Carolina’s obscenity law, General Statute 16-190.1, and how it ultimately helps apltly highlights a portion that defines “obscene” rather than obscuring directly above it, which contains a four-proto text for obscenity as material so extensive as much no book on school officials who order and stock the books they dislike, thus unlawfully.

In Miller, the Court reasoned that individuals could not be convicted of obscenity charges unless the materials depict “patently offensive hard core sexual conduct.” Under that reasoning, many convicted of obscenity charges unless the materials depict “patently offensive hard core sexual conduct.” Under that reasoning, many
