Personalities

Opinion

When I was 14 I had a job. Black instead of white on a sign in a restaurant in a truck stop when I was 14 I wanted a job. A young Black male was bussing tables to pay for coffee with the fellow churchman. I would say to myself, “I want to be able to do that.” Lightening, which my work pace newsmagazine. It's likely, then, that all of

Letters

Education progress
For the week of March 19, 2023

WE NEED TO TALK ABOUT “WHITE PRIVILEGE”

Young Black male was bussing tables to pay for coffee with the fellow churchman. Lightening, which my work pace

W e li g h t f u l N e t t e x e

MARCH MADNESS

Voices

On the Booneville School District

Sick of the whining

How satisfied are you with your local public schools and the direction they are taking? Are they meeting your expectations?

Editor’s note: Dilbert is no longer available for publication.

FOUNDER'S DAY

Douglas Franklin

Who are you? And if you’re not sure, perhaps that’s okay.

May 18, 1960, was the date

The contents of the Voices page, including columns and cartoons, do not reflect the opinions of the Democrat-Gazette, which are found in only the editorial column of the daily page. The views expressed by columnists are their own.

We want to hear from you

Dear Democrat-Gazette, we want to hear from you.

The charter and the sign-up sheet were both

Here’s my reminder

She is my reminder

Only, as I reflect more deeply on the

John Brummett

The material

The superintendents told us the book

Lettertas

“White privilege”

Sick of the whining

“White privilege”

Letters

Friends

Voices

Quality of Life

Opinion

On Fire, On Fire

Sick of the whining

On Fire, On Fire

Voices

Letters

The contents of the Voices page, including columns and cartoons, do not reflect the opinions of the Democrat-Gazette, which are found in only the editorial column of the daily page. The views expressed by columnists are their own.

H ow satisfied are you with your local public schools and the direction they are taking? Are they meeting your expectations? In 1999, I decided to try a new career and become a high school teacher. I don’t know why, but I ended up being a part of that. I still believe that there is no better way to get to know people than teaching. I have been a teacher for 25 years, and I have loved every minute of it. I have taught a wide range of subjects, from science to social studies, and I have seen my students grow and learn. I have also been fortunate enough to travel to many different places around the world, and I have been able to share those experiences with my students. It has been a privilege to be able to share my love of learning with others.

Quality of Life

Opinion

The charter and the sign-up sheet were both

Keep up the good work, Star.

JIM HENNEBERGER

The contents of the Voices page, including columns and cartoons, do not reflect the opinions of the Democrat-Gazette, which are found in only the editorial column of the daily page. The views expressed by columnists are their own.

Voices

On Fire, On Fire

Letters

“White privilege”

Sick of the whining

On Fire, On Fire

Letters

The contents of the Voices page, including columns and cartoons, do not reflect the opinions of the Democrat-Gazette, which are found in only the editorial column of the daily page. The views expressed by columnists are their own.

H ow satisfied are you with your local public schools and the direction they are taking? Are they meeting your expectations? In 1999, I decided to try a new career and become a high school teacher. I don’t know why, but I ended up being a part of that. I still believe that there is no better way to get to know people than teaching. I have been a teacher for 25 years, and I have loved every minute of it. I have taught a wide range of subjects, from science to social studies, and I have seen my students grow and learn. I have also been fortunate enough to travel to many different places around the world, and I have been able to share those experiences with my students. It has been a privilege to be able to share my love of learning with others.

Quality of Life

Opinion

The charter and the sign-up sheet were both

Keep up the good work, Star.

JIM HENNEBERGER

The contents of the Voices page, including columns and cartoons, do not reflect the opinions of the Democrat-Gazette, which are found in only the editorial column of the daily page. The views expressed by columnists are their own.

Voices

On Fire, On Fire

Letters

“White privilege”

Sick of the whining

On Fire, On Fire

Letters

The contents of the Voices page, including columns and cartoons, do not reflect the opinions of the Democrat-Gazette, which are found in only the editorial column of the daily page. The views expressed by columnists are their own.

H ow satisfied are you with your local public schools and the direction they are taking? Are they meeting your expectations? In 1999, I decided to try a new career and become a high school teacher. I don’t know why, but I ended up being a part of that. I still believe that there is no better way to get to know people than teaching. I have been a teacher for 25 years, and I have loved every minute of it. I have taught a wide range of subjects, from science to social studies, and I have seen my students grow and learn. I have also been fortunate enough to travel to many different places around the world, and I have been able to share those experiences with my students. It has been a privilege to be able to share my love of learning with others.

Quality of Life

Opinion

The charter and the sign-up sheet were both

Keep up the good work, Star.

JIM HENNEBERGER

The contents of the Voices page, including columns and cartoons, do not reflect the opinions of the Democrat-Gazette, which are found in only the editorial column of the daily page. The views expressed by columnists are their own.

Voices

On Fire, On Fire

Letters

“White privilege”

Sick of the whining

On Fire, On Fire

Letters

The contents of the Voices page, including columns and cartoons, do not reflect the opinions of the Democrat-Gazette, which are found in only the editorial column of the daily page. The views expressed by columnists are their own.