Heavy Rainfall Brings TN River To Flood Stage

Recent heavy rainfall across the state has caused excessive flooding with devastating consequences for some counties to the north. The Tennessee River at Clifton is still on the rise, and is projected to crest at around 12 noon on Wednesday, February 19 at 370.75 feet. Although this level will only put the river at minor flood stage, roads are already closed and evacuations of personal property have been taking place at several recreational and residential locations near its banks. The photos above and below were taken in the Beechview Recreational Community in north Wayne County.

The stadium repairs and the press box were bid separately. Bids were received from Design Team and G&G Construction. Dr. Inman introduced Terry Hulen, a representative from Design Team, who was available to answer questions. Mr. Hulen shared copies of the design with board members, and answered several questions related to the design of the press box. Their design is for a stand-alone structure, while the G&G design is for the press box to be attached to the bleachers. Camryn Eaton expressed concern about the difficulty of comparing bids for what appeared to be two different structures. Discussion between the board members yielded concerns about making a fair determination between the two bids. Amanda Van Fleet said that the board should be fiscally responsible when considering the type and expense of any structure. Camryn Eaton then made a motion to table the bid discussion in order to have time to make the specs more comparable. Mark Staggs seconded the motion, and it carried unanimously.

Next was the Trane Energy Audit Presentation. Dr. Inman introduced the speaker, Mr. Randy Mauldin, who gave an explanation of the audit, shared the findings, and gave predictions of energy that would be saved through the course of the Trane HVAC projects. He also shared the expectation of revenue that the Wayne County School District would receive. Dr. Inman recommended proceeding with the Trane project. Mark Staggs made a motion to approve, and Camryn Eaton seconded. The motion passed unanimously on roll call vote.

The meeting then turned to open discussions. Audience member, Chris Yeiser, spoke to the board about flooding issues in her neighborhood near the WCHS football stadium.

Sharon (Shane) Louise
Moore Holman

Sharon (Shane) Louise Moore Holman gained her angel wings on 2/7/25. Born 3/28/52 to Roland and Dorothy (Wallace) Moore in Wilmington, DE.

Sharon lived half her life in Delaware with deep roots in Delaware City where she raised her 3 children and worked as a CNA for Governor Bacon Health Center. In her leisure time she would spend it with her children and friends riding the back roads and canal banks, swimming at baby beach, and camping. When she wasn't working or spending time outdoors, she loved visiting and having coffee with her "very very best friend," Donna Jean Smith, who she adored.

In 1994 she reunited with a former beau and Mike and Sharon moved to Waynesboro, TN. In 1997 they were married and built a home together. They loved spending time with their grandchildren taking them on adventurous country rides while listening to Rod Stewart, exploring old homes and taking them camping. Sharon was an avid Coca Cola collector and enjoyed working on puzzles and crafts. Sharon and Mike spent the rest of her years working on their home and land, planting flowers and trees, and tending to their dogs, cats, chickens, and goats.

Sharon donated to many causes that were dear to her heart but she had an overwhelming passion to help the unloved and discarded animals in Wayne County.

Sharon's final wish was to donate her body to help others through research and science and to have her ashes scattered in a place that was dear to her heart.

Sharon is survived by her husband Michael Holman, daughter Cheyenne Moore, sons Bruce (Kristin) & Steve Moore, brothers Ronald, Albert & John Moore, along with grandchildren, great-grandchildren, nieces, nephews, and her fur babies Lady, Smoky, Gravy & Girly.

Sharon is preceded in death by her parents Roland & Dorothy Moore, brothers Walt, Bill, & Rick Moore, grandson Joey Nost Jr. and her many many furbabies.

In lieu of flowers please consider making a donation in her name to the local non-profit animal rescue in her town: Country Road Animal Rescue at countryroad-animalrescue@gmail.com

FEATURES FROM THE BIBLE

TRUTH IN SCRIPTURE

Cain and Abel

Cain and Abel were the first two children of Adam and Eve (Genesis 4).Abel was a keeper of sheep and Cain
was a tiller of the ground.
Both brought offerings to offer to the Lord.Cain brought fruit of the ground. Abel brought of the firstling of his flock.
Abel's offering was acceptable to God.
Cain's was not acceptable.Why Cain's offering was not respected of the Lord is subject to much speculation.
It has been suggested that only a blood
offering or sacrifice was acceptable to atone for sin.Others suggest that Cain's offering was attitude was a selfish one. Cain was unhappy with having his offering rejected, to the point of being angry. The Lord warns Cain of the danger of not doing what is right and encouraged him to be master over sin.Cain did not listen and invited Abel out to the field, where he killed Abel. Thus we have the first murder.

GOOD GRIEF

sharing one's sorrow with a good listener. I know talking is not for everyone, but talking is therapeutic in this area. Whether you are a talker or not, you need to share anyway. Everyone in the midst of grief needs to unload on a special someone who will walk with them while they observe and listen along the way. Grief is unique in this way; as we discuss and share what we feel and what we have experienced, we are assisting in our own healing. No wonder we are told to weep with those who weep - the shared experience is healing, comforting, and strengthening. Yes, the experience of loss is one of the most painful experiences we face in our lifetime, especially because of the separation, and then because of the loneliness and discomfort we feel. Many people do not like talking about death or of the dead for a variety of reasons. Talking about our loss and how it has impacted our life will trigger emotions that may be buried to surface so that we my work toward their healing.

Too often, family and others do not want to listen as someone who is experiencing the heartache of loss/separation as they need to talk about it is so crucial. There are people who are willing and able to listen as we have need to share and talk about how our loss is changing us daily and that talking is therapeutic and healing. As a mourner, we need to connect with people who display the proverb: speech is silver, silence is golden. It was and still believed that is why we are given two ears and only one tongue and further why our tongue is walled around by teeth and our ears are open. We are to be swift to hear and slow to speak. Listening is a lost character in too many of us in our culture. ~David.

Make-Ahead Freezer Meals to the Rescue

Preparing and freezing family meals in advance will save you time and energy on busy days. This will help you get a hot meal on the dinner table with less stress.

When we think of equipment in the kitchen that can save us time and energy, items such as the blender, food processor, or microwave oven come to mind. There is, however, another key appliance that can help you decrease the time it takes to get dinner on the table. With the ability to hold cold temperatures and keep food safe for months, the freezer is a superhero appliance that can be used to store prepared dinner entrees. Preparing and freezing meals in advance will save you when there are days filled with a variety of after-school activities or work commitments. With advance meal preparation serving a hot meal will not require a chaotic evening in the kitchen or a trip to the local fast-food restaurant. You can simply open the freezer and pull out a dinner entrée ready to be warmed and served.

Successful Make-Ahead Food Safety and Preparation Tips

According to the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) Food Safety and Inspection Service, you can freeze almost any food at 0°F and it will stay safe. There are a few exceptions such as eggs that cannot be frozen for later use. Other foods, including mayonnaise, cream sauce, and lettuce, do not freeze well. Recommended storing times for frozen foods vary and are based on food quality only.

The USDA MyPlate website is a good place to find information on meal planning. At this site there are tips for healthy eating on a budget, kitchen time savers, recipes and much more.

To get started, prepare double batches of your family's favorite foods. Casseroles, soups and stews are good choices for freezing ahead. Make one batch for now and freeze the second batch for later. Here are basic instructions for freezing casseroles.

To prepare casseroles for freezing:

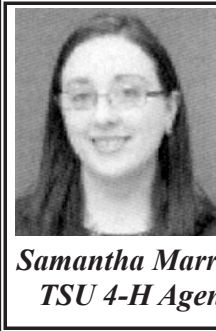

- Freeze most casseroles before baking, especially if all the ingredients are already cooked. Exceptions are dishes that contain uncooked rice, raw vegetables, or uncooked meat that has been frozen and thawed.
- Undercook starchy ingredients such as potatoes, beans, rice, and noodles or they will become mushy.
- Do not freeze baked pastry. Add the unbaked pastry during reheating.
- Freeze casseroles in shallow containers that are just right for a family meal or individual servings. Shallow baking pans speed freezing and thawing of casseroles.

To freeze:

- If you bake the prepared casserole, cool it quickly. Set the shallow pan of hot food in ice water and cool to room temperature quickly. Wrap, label, and freeze. To package food for the freezer, use heavy-duty foil, moisture-and vapor-proof paper, plastic freezer bags, freezer wrap or freezer containers. Microwave-safe or aluminum ovenproof containers are also available. Pack the containers nearly full to prevent ice crystals from forming but allow space at the top of the container for expansion. Label the contents of the dish, the date frozen, and the number of servings. Also include baking instructions or where to find the recipe with cooking information.
- To free up baking pans, line the pan with heavy-duty aluminum foil. Leave enough overhang around the pan to cover the casserole and seal. Add ingredients and bake if desired. Cool, cover, and seal airtight. When frozen, remove the foil from the pan, and place the foil package in the freezer. To reheat, simply peel foil from the food, place back in the original baking pan, and bake as directed.

To Serve:

- Use frozen casseroles within three months for best quality.
- The size of the casserole will affect baking time. Remember to use shallow, small dishes instead of deeper, larger dishes to reduce baking time.
- Thaw casserole before reheating by allowing the casserole to stand in the refrigerator overnight. Then cook as directed in the recipe, add 15 to 30 minutes to the cooking time. Use a food thermometer to make sure the casserole reaches an internal temperature of 165°F Bottom of Form.

the report on the Police Department, Commissioner Pigg asked if the new police trucks were in service. City Manager Victory confirmed that two are in service currently, and one is being worked on at the moment. Commissioner Hanback asked if the department would be keeping all the Ford Explorers they are using now, and City Manager Victory confirmed that they would be.

Following a review of the Utility Department report, Mayor Brown inquired if the new jet-vac trailer had come in, and City Manager Victory confirmed that it had. Commissioner Pigg asked if there had been many water leaks or breaks during the recent cold weather snap, and City Manager Victory said there had been some but not a lot. He said that there were lots of leaks and/or breaks that customers had not yet fixed, and one customer has a leak that they have not yet been able to identify. Victory said that customer may need help from the Utility Department to find the leak.

Mayor Brown said that the city needs to get more potholes patched as there are still several that are very bothersome for drivers. City Manager Victory said that they are working on them.

Next on the agenda was an infrastructure planning grant. City Manager Victory said that the city was awarded this grant to be used for the water system. He reiterated the fact that the city needs another water source, and this grant would be a good fit for making that happen. Commissioner Hanback asked if there could or would be a new well drilled for city use, and Victory said yes.

The historical grant for the Depot Library was next. City Manager Victory told the commission that the historical grant awarded last year for improvements to the depot building could not be used because the city couldn't find anyone to do the work and the timeline for completion could not be met. He said that the city applied for the same grant this year, which is for $35,150 with a $14,060 match from the city. City Manager Victory said that the repairs to the depot building were going to have to be done whether the grant is awarded or not. The wood on the outside of the building has lots of rot, especially the eaves and some on the sides. The historical grant has stipulations as to what kind of wood can be used and how it must be done, and it continues to be difficult to find someone to do the work. The historical grant will not cover a new roof on the building, which is needed no matter how it is to be paid for.

The new water tank design was next on the agenda. The company currently used for the water tank maintenance, American Tank Maintenance, has proposed to put a new larger American flag graphic on the tank at the cost of $59,751. The cost would be spread out over a three-year period and would be included in the payment the city already makes to the company for maintenance of the tanks. City Manager Victory pointed out that the city's payment to American Tank Maintenance is already set to decrease by $13,000 per year, even with the new graphic cost included. Commissioner Pigg made a motion to approve the new water tank graphic, and Commissioner Kephart seconded. The motion passed unanimously. Commissioner Hanback commented that he does not particularly care for the new American flag graphic that pretty much covers the whole water tank. He said that he thought the current graphic, a smaller American flag, is much classier. However, he said that he does completely support any American flag graphic. Mayor Brown thanked Commissioner Hanback for his input.

The next item of discussion on the agenda was the fire chief. City Manager Victory said that he had not yet moved forward with the hiring of a new fire chief but would be getting the basic qualifications together and will advertise the position on Facebook. The commission agreed that two of the main qualifications should be the ability to train the firefighters and to be able to find new equipment for the department.

A new radio tower was next on the agenda. City Manager Victory said that he was approached by a representative from the state and Wayne County E-911 Director Jimmy Turnbow about the placement of a new radio tower in Collinwood. They suggested placing it near the sewer plant, but Victory said he and the commission were opposed to that site. The city manager suggested the small lot next to the Recreation Building that was deeded back to the city from the American Legion. The commissioners verbally agreed that this would be a good spot for the new tower. City Manager Victory said that the tower would improve communications with the SROs at the Collinwood schools. Commissioner Kephart asked if Tennessee Valley Weather was still planning to put new cameras in Collinwood, and Victory said that he had asked Director Turnbow about that. Turnbow said that Tennessee Valley Weather was having to redo something to do with the camera system, but they were still planning to install them. Commissioner Kephart asked if the weather cameras could possibly be installed on the new radio tower, and City Manager Victory said he didn't see why not. He said that he would be in contact with Ben Luna at Tennessee Valley Weather to discuss it.

The Wayne County Welcome Center report for the month of January was next. Mayor Brown reported that there were 221 visitors at the center last month from 22 U.S. states and Canada. Volunteers of the Month were Frank and Amy Cannon.

Wayne County Commissioner Alvin Creecy addressed the commission next. He said that he planned to attend other city meetings and various meetings of committees and boards to present the idea of having at least one meeting per year of all county and city officials. County Commissioner Creecy said that a combined meeting would offer the opportunity to make sure all were on the same page about what is best for everyone in the county. Mayor Brown agreed that a combined meeting was a good idea, and someone needs to get it started. County Commissioner Creecy emphasized that he intends to make sure that happens. Mayor Brown said that one thing that really needs to be discussed in that type of meeting is a county humane shelter for stray animals.

Commissioner Pigg said that the Beautification Board had a work session the previous week, and they confirmed the contract with Mid-South Pullers for the 2025 Pullin' in the Wood tractor pull. This year, the pull will be adding new classes and will start earlier each night. The admission price will also be increasing. The local pullers that have usually competed on Saturday night will be moved to Friday this year.

Commissioner Pigg said that in July 2024 the Beautification Board only had $11,000 in the bank and they now have $23,000 with no outstanding debts. She said there would be a planning meeting on Thursday, February 13, to discuss upcoming events, and they are always looking for volunteers to help out.

Commissioner Hanback brought up the recent devastating fire at the home of Brad and April Morris. He asked if the fire department had a reasonable response time, and City Manager Victory said that he wasn’t sure because he had not yet received the report. Mayor Brown noted that most of the volunteer firefighters have other jobs they are committed to and sometimes can’t leave for a fire call. City Manager Victory said that low water pressure seemed to be the biggest problem the fire department faced when fighting fires, and the city plans to install a new valve on Highway 13 to improve the water pressure. Commissioner Pigg said that when hired, the new fire chief should be able to effectively address these issues. Commissioner Hanback asked if the city’s police officers are trained for firefighting as well, and City Manager Victory said that are if they choose to be.

Commissioner Hanback said that Waynesboro and Clifton have Parks and Recreation Departments, and asked if Collinwood could create a department of their own in order to apply for parks and recreation grants. City Manager Victory explained some things about those grants, stating that they are all 50/50 grants with the city responsible for 50%. He said any projects that parks and rec grant funds are used for must be ADA (handicapped) compliant, which is not always the case with projects in Collinwood. He also said that in order to apply for the grants, the city must have a Parks and Recreation Board and Director. Mayor Brown noted that there is a lot of work that needs to be done at the ballfield, and parks and rec grants came to mind as a way to fund the work.

Victory then addressed the TN Downtowns Grant awarded to the city. He said that Jason Rich of MyTeam Insurance and The T House was the only business who opted in on using the grant, and he would be using some of the grant funds for improvements to his businesses. There will be approximately $22,000 left to be used for other various projects in the city. City Manager Victory said that he and some others with the city and with the Beautification Board had discussed the possibility of installing wrought iron gates with brick columns at the city park, along with a sign identifying the park as Ralph Hughes Park, as it was officially named some time ago. Victory said that he would need to speak with someone at the South Central Development District to confirm this as an eligible use for the grant funds. Any projects that use these grant funds must be completed by October 23rd. Commissioner Pigg said that the Beautification Board could possibly help with the cost of the gate and sign project if needed. Next, City Manager Victory talked about the paving of city streets. He said that he recently had a meeting with a paving contractor from Alabama whom he trusted and was very straightforward. After looking over a few of the city streets that need to be re-paved, the contractor said that they all had what is called “failed pavement.” He gave an estimate of $37,400 to pave over the few streets he looked at, but told Victory that the city could lower their cost of re-paving the streets by up to 30% if they would either mill the existing asphalt down and build a new crusher run base, or apply a new base on top of the existing asphalt before putting down new asphalt. Mayor Brown asked what the cost would be to do that, and the city manager said he would have to talk with Wayne County Road Superintendent Chuck Moser to get an approximate cost.

City Manager Victory next talked about the new gazebo that is to be placed in front of the Depot Library near Wayne County Bank. He said he found someone in Lawrence County, Mose Miller, who has agreed to build the gazebo at his place. Victory said that Jamey Ayers and William Coffman promised to transport the gazebo to Collinwood when it is finished. The commission verbally agreed for Miller to build the gazebo.

City Manager Victory spoke briefly about the city’s fiscal year 2023-2024 audit. There was only one finding, which is very low for a city audit. The finding stated: Financial statements materially misstated before adjustments-general, state street aid, water, sewer, and sanitation funds. The corrective action planned by the city manager and mayor stated: We will record all financial information accurately and will strive to improve our accounting and financial reporting.

Lastly, County Commissioner Alvin Creecy said that he hoped to see lots of publicity for the rodeo coming up in May at the Ag Center since it will be very good for the county. Commissioner Hanback noted that there will be a car show at the rodeo as well.

With no further business to come before the commission, Commissioner Hanback made a motion to adjourn. Commissioner Pigg seconded, and the meeting was adjourned.

the attorney, but that Mayor Warren has nothing to be concerned about and the error will be corrected.

Next on the agenda was approval for declaring as surplus a number of old computers and computer equipment including old monitors, printers, and a copier. The items were approved by the commission to be declared as surplus and sold on govdeals.com

The first reading of the on-premises alcohol sales and consumption ordinance was next. City Attorney Polk explained that under guidance from MTAS, a new chapter was created in the city code containing rules and guidelines on who can get a license to sell alcohol on-premises, who can purchase it, etc. The new on-premises consumption ordinance is very similar to the existing beer sales ordinance. Mr. Polk said that a mistake was discovered in the beer ordinance concerning the hours that beer can be sold. The hours were corrected to say that beer CANNOT be sold in the city between the hours of 12:00 midnight and 6:00 a.m. on Sunday through Saturday. The same hours were put in the new on-premises alcohol consumption ordinance.

Mr. Polk went on to explain more about the new ordinance. There is a $250 application fee for businesses to apply for a license, and there is an annual $500 privilege tax (the privilege tax for beer is only $100). The business selling alcohol under the new ordinance must meet the requirement of at least 70% of their sales being food.

Commissioners discussed the rules for restaurant workers that are the same for both beer and alcohol sales. Workers must be at least 18 years old, and those aged 21 and younger are not allowed to serve beer or alcohol. Vice Mayor Creasy noted that workers aged 18 and younger are also not allowed sell tobacco products in Tennessee.

Commissioner Davis made the point that the city’s hands are tied as to whether or not they will allow on-premises alcohol sales and consumption. The majority of votes on the referendum on last November’s ballot were in favor of on-premises alcohol, and the referendum overrides any effort cities may try to make to block it.

City Manager Hickman said that only one restaurant so far, El Guadalajara, has contacted City Hall asking about a license to sell alcohol for on-premises consumption.

Vice Mayor Creasy made a motion to approve the first reading of the on-premises alcohol ordinance. Commissioner Davis seconded, and the motion carried unanimously.

The next item on the agenda was an amendment to the existing beer sales ordinance. The ordinance erroneously stated that beer could not be sold between the hours of 12:00 midnight and 6:00 p.m. on Sunday. City Manager Hickman said that a correction should have been made to the ordinance some time ago regarding Sunday beer sales after it was decided in a commission meeting to make the change. Commissioner Howell made a motion to approve the correction to the beer sales ordinance that states beer cannot be sold in the city between 12:00 midnight and 6:00 a.m. every day. Vice Mayor Creasy seconded the motion, and it carried unanimously. It was noted that the on-premises liquor sales & consumption ordinance contains the same wording on the times prohibited for sales.

The last item of new business on the agenda was a bid for the CDBG grant-funded paving project. City Manager Hickman stated that the grant will pay up to $600,000 for the paving of 13 city streets. Only one bid was received; the bid was from Rogers Group in the amount of $464,582. Mr. Hickman explained that more streets may be added to the paving list if there are additional grant funds left after the 13 listed streets are completed. Commissioner Davis made a motion to accept the bid from Rogers Group for the paving project. Commissioner Howell seconded, and the motion carried unanimously.

Open items were next on the agenda. Commissioner Howell said that he had noticed that some information and wording on the city’s website seems to be out of date, and County Attorney Polk agreed. City Manager Hickman said that the website is currently undergoing an update, and he would speak with the person working on it the following day.

Commissioner Davis said that he had been receiving several calls about yards and properties that need to be cleaned up. City Manager Hickman said that he had received quite a few complaints about the tiny houses and campers on Collinwood Highway (Highway 13 South). He stated that the city is unable to do anything with those properties because they are on state right-of-way. He advised anyone with complaints to contact TDOT.

Commissioner Davis also asked about city residents that need tiles installed. City Manager Hickman stated that if the city resident purchases the tile and materials needed, the city will install the tile for them. Commissioner Davis asked if the city would also do the dirt work and ditches that may be required, and City Manager Hickman said that no, they have had too many problems in the past with right-of-way issues.

Mayor Warren reminded the commissioners about online inservice for utility board continuing education. He said that there are certain requirements for internet capability in order to view the inservice videos.

With no further business to come before the commission, Vice Mayor Creasy made a motion to adjourn. Commissioner Howell seconded, and the meeting was adjourned.

Senator Bill Hagerty Announces Re-election for U.S. Senate

U.S. Senator Bill Hagerty announced his re-election bid last week for United States Senate:

"I am pleased to announce my candidacy for re-election to the United States Senate. It has been the honor of my lifetime to serve the men and women of Tennessee, and I am committed to the fight for our shared values, our freedoms, and the future of our great state and nation.

"As a businessman, former U.S. Ambassador to Japan, and now your Senator, I have always put Tennessee first. During President Donald J. Trump's first term, I was honored to serve in his Administration and witness firsthand the impact of his America First agenda. His leadership delivered record-low unemployment, stronger borders, and a booming economy—results that benefited Tennesseans and Americans alike. I stood with President Trump then, and I remain committed now to advancing the policies that put hardworking Americans and Tennesseans first.

"In the Senate, I have worked tirelessly to protect Tennessee's conservative values and deliver results for our state. My lifelong business experience, which gave me firsthand exposure to the crippling overreach of the administrative state, provides unique perspective to the critical debates and lawmaking that takes place in the Senate. I've fought to secure our southern border, support our small businesses, strengthen our national security, and ensure Tennessee's voice is heard in Washington.

"There is more work to be done. Our nation faces an unprecedented set of challenges from lingering inflation, threats from adversaries like the Chinese Communist Party, and efforts to undermine the values that make America the most exceptional nation in the history of the world.

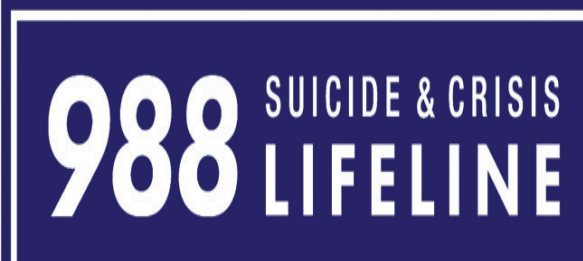

"Tennessee needs a strong, conservative voice in the Senate—one that fights for lower taxes, energy independence, secure borders, and the rule of law. I am running for re-election to continue delivering on these priorities and to ensure that President Trump's America First agenda succeeds in his second term and beyond.

"Together, we can build on the progress we've made and keep Tennessee and America great. I humbly ask for your support, your prayers, and your vote in the upcoming election. Please join me in this fight for the future our children and grandchildren deserve—a future where the Volunteer State and our great nation remain strong, prosperous, and free."

Hagerty also announced that he will be traveling throughout Tennessee in the coming weeks to hold campaign and finance events that will demonstrate his unmatched support throughout the Volunteer State and its three grand divisions.
